Chinese Reds' Drive To Cost U.S. Billions

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communist sweep in China appears certain to cost the United States more billions in foreign aid over the next few years—whether or not she decides to give grand scale help to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

As policy planners here see the picture, two points stand out:

1. If President Truman and State Secretary Marshall determine that China still can be saved from Communism—and decide to go ahead with an aid program—they will have to ask the new Congress for several hundred million dollars at least. And that would be just a starter, since any new China program is regarded as a long-term undertaking.

2. In spite of American help or without it—all China falls to the Communists, the task of rebuilding Japan and providing it with a stable economy will be much more costly. That is because Japan would find trade relations with Communist China more difficult.

In addition, if a Communist China should prove actively hostile to the west in the cold war, military leaders might consider it essential to strengthen U.S. defenses in the western Pacific. That, however, is no more than a speculative possibility at the moment.

Wall Street Stock Values Drop Around Billion Dollars

NEW YORK (AP)—A fresh sinking spell today carried the stock market to a new low level since the post-election break.

Around $1,000,000,000 of the market value of all stocks listed on the exchange was wiped out.

The volume of business expanded as prices started to slide and the day's turnover ran well past 1,000,000 shares.

Wall Street quarters said much of the selling was due to disappointment because last week's rally failed to get anywhere. Selling for tax purposes was rated as another source of pressure.

Acting as a brake on demand, these quarters said, was uncertainty over the policies of the new administration on such matters as taxes and profits.

Many issues dropped to new low prices for the year. Among them were Chrysler, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Pepsi-Cola, International Telephone, and Western Union.

Johnson Urges B.C. Stick With P.G.E.

SUMMERLAND, B.C. (CP)—British Columbia's own revenues should be used to develop the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, Premier Byron Johnson said here Tuesday night.

In an address supporting R. D. Browne-Clayton, Coalition candidate in the South Okanagan provincial by-election, Premier Johnson said the national railways "are not interested in going into a partnership at this time."

"The people of B.C., if they are prepared, can accept taxation and help develop our province," he said.

"It is our duty to see that we not only get a highway to the Peace River, but we must find some way to develop the coal and oil there."

"If we have the courage to do it," he says, "it will pay big dividends to the people of this province."

Blizzard Sweeps U.S. Midwest Before Thanksgiving

Rescuers are shown moving through 65-mile-an-hour gale during height of blizzard to aid passengers stranded in two buses near Dodge City, Kans. Most of the midwest was forced to dig itself out of snowdrifts as New Yorkers basked in 72-degree sunshine. (NEA Service.)

Britain Tries To Meet U.S. View On Holy Land

PARIS (CP)—Britain tonight announced some minor revisions to her general resolution calling for a Palestine settlement on the basis of Count Folke Bernadotte's report.

A spokesman said the changes were an attempt to meet the views of the United States. A Soviet block delegate said earlier that Anglo-American oil and military interests wrecked the United Nations partition plan for Palestine.

Andrei A. Galagan of the Soviet Ukraine told the General Assembly's No. 1 political committee that it should order troops from the neighboring Arab states of Egypt, Trans-Jordan, Syria, Lebanon and Iraq out of Palestine.

He said an independent Arab state should be set up alongside the new Jewish State of Israel and opposed giving the Arab section of the Holy Land to "the British puppet of Trans-Jordan."

British and American oil interests, Galagan said, have planned pipe lines in the Middle East that would be carrying 2,000,000 barrels of oil daily in 1952.

"It is essential for them to get Middle East oil," he said. "This may hold up a Palestine settlement. They have taken steps tantamount to wrecking the Nov. 29, 1947, partition plan."

"Who are the genuine authors of the Bernadotte report?" he asked.

The Ukrainian read reports he said were from U.S. magazines and newspapers, claiming Robert M. McClintock of the U.S. State Department and Sir John Troutbeck of the British Middle East office in Cairo had visited Count Folke Bernadotte a few days before the late U.N. mediator was assassinated in Jerusalem in September.

Galagan said these accounts told how Count Bernadotte had originally planned to give to Israel that part of the Negev Desert in southern Palestine in which there are Jewish settlements. Then McClintock and Troutbeck wrote into Count Bernadotte's recommendations the complete exclusion of the Jews from Negev, he said.

A British resolution, now being debated by the committee, calls for putting the Bernadotte plan into effect.

Galagan added that "British agents such as Abdullah and Glubb Pasha had provoked the invasion of Palestine to prevent partition by force of arms."

Abdullah is King of Trans-Jordan and J. B. Glubb Pasha is chief of the British-subsidized Trans-Jordan Arab Legion.

Ailing King Will Continue Normal Duties In Palace

LONDON (CP)—The King today continued to carry out his normal routine of state business at Buckingham Palace despite a circulatory ailment.

His Majesty's condition was described by the Press Association as "affection of the arteries themselves which impeded circulation of the blood."

It was first disclosed in an announcement from Buckingham Palace early Tuesday which said the ailment had forced cancellation of the royal tour of Australia and New Zealand which was to have begun in January.

In future the King may use a wheel chair to rest his legs, it was said.

Reports Hirohito Not To Abdicate

TOKYO (AP)—The newspaper Yomiuri today says Emperor Hirohito has told confidantes he does not intend to abdicate. The newspaper says, however, the emperor may "express his feelings in some way" when seven of his former leaders are hanged for war crimes.

Nellie Wallace Dies

LONDON (Reuter)—Nellie Wallace, 66, famed old-time star of the British music halls, died today in a London nursing home. Her last stage appearance was in the Royal Command performance at the London Palladium three weeks ago.

Russian Guards Stop Removal Of Berlin Records

BERLIN (AP)—The Russians posted guards today to prevent City Government officials from removing any records from the central City Hall.

The move was interpreted in some quarters as a Soviet preparation for setting up their separate city government.

Russian headquarters dispatched a letter to Acting Mayor Ferdinand Friedensburg claiming that "many attempts" had been made by government officials to remove files from the City Hall, which is situated in the Soviet sector of the city.

The Russians demanded that Friedensburg put a stop to this alleged activity, which they said was "designed to damage city administration."

Without waiting for a reply from the mayor, the Russians ordered their controlled German police to search persons who emerged from the City Hall with brief cases or anything else in which they might carry papers.

The Communists already have forced out of the City Hall the elected city Assembly and most major city officials except the mayor. The ousted officials have established offices in Western Berlin where they had to work without records because the Communists impounded them.

New Polio Case

EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta's 1948 poliomyelitis total rose to 369 today with the reporting of two new cases—a 12-year-old girl at Crooked Creek and a boy of four at Debolt.

Big Harbor Project

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—First step of a new million-dollar harbor-industrial project for New Westminster may be included in next year's federal government estimates, Ken W. Morton, New Westminster engineer for Dominion Department of Public Works, said today a survey has been completed of a 100-acre site.

Socreds Battle

EDMONTON (CP)—The annual convention of the Alberta Social Credit League today exploded into a bitter battle over an executive act barring certain men from league membership. In a hammer and tongs fight, delegates charged that the executive acted as "dictators" in refusing membership to three officials of the rebel Edmonton Douglas Social Credit Council.

Vote Of Confidence For Queuille Regime

PARIS (AP)—Parliament voted its confidence in Premier Henri Queuille's middle-of-the-road government today. The unofficial count was 320 to 165. The bulk of the vote against Queuille was by Communist deputies. If the vote had gone the other way, the cabinet would have resigned.

Great Dinosaur Graveyard Reported Found By Soviets

MOSCOW (AP)—A Russian scientific expedition claimed today it has discovered the greatest dinosaur graveyard in the world. I. A. Efremov, leader of the expedition, told in the newspaper Evening Moscow of finding a place in the Gobi Desert near a mountain range where he found "the remains of millions of dinosaurs."

The expedition brought back as visual proof of its claims 70 tons of the remains of extinct animals—some of a type now unknown to paleontologists anywhere, the Soviet scientist claimed.

The exhibits, which will be assembled and put on display in Moscow soon, included various types of dinosaurs, two of a rapacious variety, that walked on their hind feet, a giant turtle, and a huge "man-eating bird" the report said.

The skeleton of one dinosaur measured 100 feet, the scientists said. The discoveries were made near Nemeget Mountain range about 730 miles from Ulan Bator, capital of the Outer Mongolian Peoples' Republic in the Gobi Desert.

NEW YORK (AP)—Moscow's announced dinosaur discovery is in the same region where Roy Chapman Andrews of American Museum of Natural History discovered the world's largest dinosaur fossils nearly a decade ago. The museum published maps showing within one mile the locations of Andrews' various digging sites.

Fleet Of Canadian, U.S. Aircraft Scour Wide Atlantic Area

Druses Want In

The Druses, a wild, fanatical Syrian tribe which inhabits the shaded area on the map, reportedly wants to be taken into Israel. Living in Jebel (mountain) Druse, they have long fought for independence against the French and Syrians, and supposedly feel they will be better off under the Israelis. They are already fighting the Arabs, on the side of the Jews.

No Early Easing Of Auto Shortage

REGINA (CP)—No easing of the shortage of new cars is probable in the opinion of Howard Moore of Toronto, general manager of the Federation of Automobile Dealer's Association of Canada. He blamed the shortage of steel.

Communism, God In Line, Says Dean

WINNIPEG (CP)—Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, reached here today with a terse answer to the newly-expressed doctrine of the United States congressional committee which says: "You cannot be a Communist and believe in God."

"Nonsense!" said the 74-year-old Anglican clergyman, nicknamed the "Red Dean" because of his views.

"It all depends what you mean by communism. There are 50 definitions. Mine is this—from each according to his abilities, to each according to his needs."

Dean Johnson is scheduled to address a meeting tonight in the course of a speaking tour of Canada and the U.S.

At Least 23 Dead In Lisbon Blast

LISBON, Portugal (CP)—At least 23 persons were killed, most of them women, and 24 injured today in an explosion at a gun powder factory at the village of Amora.

The blast shook buildings and broke windows in Lisbon, across the Tagus River. About 100 laborers were working at the factory.

Rescue brigades were searching tonight for more bodies in the debris. The factory was partially destroyed.

Ex-German Rocket Goes 114 Miles Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—A captured German V-2 rocket, fired in an experiment from New Mexico, apparently has set an altitude record of 114 miles. The applied physics laboratory of Johns Hopkins University said Tuesday the rocket's warhead has been found by an army recovery team 20 miles from where it had been fired from the White Sands proving grounds.

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Coast Guard said today that it is believed the British freighter Hoepstar with its crew of 37 foundered in the Atlantic and that "there is little possibility any survivors are left alive."

Captain W. R. Richards, chief of staff of the Coast Guard eastern area, said "while an aerial search is still being carried on we feel that there is little possibility that any survivors are left alive."

Ten Canadian and American planes were teamed in a search for the ship today.

The 5,267-ton vessel was last heard from Nov. 14 when she radioed that she had suffered "heavy weather damage, particularly in the deep water tanks" about 900 miles east of New York.

HALIFAX (CP)—Three R.C.A.F. search and rescue Lancasters took off from their Greenwood, N.S., base today to search for the British freighter Hoepstar, missing some 400 miles southeast of Halifax.

Coast Guard officials at New York said the freighter carried a crew of 37 and was traveling in ballast.

U.S. Coast Guard planes combed part of the vast area Tuesday in a hunt for the 5,267-ton vessel, last heard from Nov. 13 when she reported "heavy weather damage." The Hoepstar sailed from Newcastle Nov. 2 for Philadelphia.

Debate Berlin Blockade At Canadian Luncheon

PARIS (CP)—The Berlin blockade crisis will be discussed again tomorrow at a luncheon tendered in the headquarters of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations, in the Hotel Raphael, it was learned today.

The six "neutral" members of the Security Council, of which Canada is one, again today took up their task of trying to break the east-west deadlock over Berlin.

The representatives of the six neutrals and a working group of financial experts will attend tomorrow's meeting.

TWO TO BE HOSTS

The luncheon will be given in the name of Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian representative on the Security Council, and L. B. Pearson, external affairs minister, who heads the Dominion delegation to the General Assembly.

All questions relating to the stalemate in the German capital will be discussed, it is understood, but Canadian sources stressed that the meeting marks "no spectacular new move" in the continuing mediation efforts.

Canada's financial expert at tomorrow's currency reform talks will be Norman Robertson, High Commissioner in London. Robertson, who once lectured on economics at Harvard University, is expected to arrive from London tonight or tomorrow.

Canadian sources said the delegation is fortunate to have an expert of Robertson's calibre available, since currency ques-

Recover Body Of One Of Two Babies Thrown Into Creek

VANCOUVER (CP)—On the shores of English Bay, the body of 18-month-old Frances Jennifer Jones was found by searchers today as her mentally-ill English war-bride mother was held in custody.

Mrs. Leslie Jones, 28-year-old expectant mother, told police Tuesday she had hurled her two baby girls from the Kitsilano trestle, 30 feet above the creek. Her three-year-old daughter, Gilda, was rescued by a startled fisherman who discovered her floating face up as she was being swept seaward by the tide.

Mrs. Jones, recently released from the mental ward of the General Hospital here, will be examined today by Dr. K. D. Pantan, city pathologist.

Police were called by Mrs. Jones' husband when she disappeared late Tuesday with the children. He said his wife was mentally ill.

"I don't know why she did it," said the grief-stricken young English veteran.

tions often range far beyond the layman's level.

Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina, president of the Security Council for November, submitted the questionnaires to the four powers and then turned the replies over to the other six members for study. The other neutrals are Argentina, Belgium, China, Colombia and Syria.

Because currency is one of the chief causes of friction between the western powers and Russia in Berlin, Bramuglia is seeking to get at the root of the discord by solving the money problem.

Britain, the United States and France introduced their western-German currency in the western sectors of Berlin last spring. Soon afterward, in June, Russia began its blockade of the capital city by halting all transportation except air traffic between Berlin and the Western Occupation zones.

It was reported that the neutrals are seeking additional information from the Big Four. Bramuglia conferred for almost three hours today with other neutral members of the council.

14 Killed As Bus Drons From Bridge

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Fourteen persons were believed to have been killed today when a bus crashed through the rail on a bridge and plunged into water 66 feet below. The bus sank into 74 feet of water in Esslingen Sound.

Halifax Longshoremen May Yet Handle Diverted Ships

HALIFAX (CP)—Halifax's 2,000 longshoremen tonight will decide whether they will resume handling ocean-going vessels diverted here by the United States ports strike.

The Halifax Longshoremen's Association (A.F.L.) Tuesday reached a decision not to work diverted vessels until tonight's meeting. This decision was a return to a stand taken Nov. 17, rescinded two days later after the Halifax union had considered its legal position.

As things stood early today, only two diverted vessels were being worked on the Halifax waterfront—the liner Media and the Westerdam. Unloading operations on both ships had started before Tuesday's announcement. Harbor Master Dennis Moriarty said Tuesday night the longshoremen's decision would have "little effect for a week or so because there are no diverted ships due to arrive in that period."

The longshoremen's announcement followed London reports that the liner Queen Elizabeth, at first scheduled to sail for Halifax if the New York strike continued, would remain in England until the United States strike was settled.

MacArthur Refuses Clemency To Japanese War Criminals

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. MacArthur today denied clemency for Japan's 25 top war criminals and ordered the execution of Hideki Tojo and six other who dreamed of conquest but lost an empire.

As sole reviewing officer, he declined to use his power to lighten any of the sentences determined by the International Military Tribunal—seven to die on the gallows; 16 to spend the rest of their lives in prison; two to serve lesser prison terms.

The Supreme Commander called the task "utterly repugnant" to him. He closed his review of the war-guilt case with a plea to people of all creeds in Japan to pray on the execution day—yet to be made public—to help the world keep the peace, "lest the human race perish."

Counsel for five defendants planned to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States, which has never yet intervened in international war crimes cases.

Those sentenced to death were: Tojo, army commander and premier at the outbreak of war; Gen. Jemji Doihara, known as the sly, ruthless "Lawrence of Manchuria"; Koki Hirota, former premier; Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, former war minister; Gen. Heitaro Kimura, Manchurian commander; Gen. Iwane Matsui, whose troops perpetrated the "rape of Nanking," and Lt. Gen. Akio Muto, who fought in the Philippines.

Big Guns Guarding Golden Gate Doomed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The big guns guarding the Golden Gate are being junked.

The cannons are being discarded, the army explained, because fixed emplacements are considered obsolete. Anti-aircraft artillery, mines, planes and mobile guns are more efficient for protecting the harbor entrance.

Tass Says Woman Confessed U.S. Spy

VIENNA (AP)—The Russian News Agency Tass said Tuesday night Dr. Margarethe Ottlinger, section chief of the Austrian Ministry of Economic Planning, had confessed the United States hired her as a spy.

Russian troops arrested the woman Nov. 5.

The Tass report quoted the woman as saying she was ordered by the Americans to obtain copies of passports and passes used by Russian troops in Austria. She also was ordered, Tass said, to report on Soviet-managed fac-

U.S. Labor Secretary Urges Unions Merge

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Yes, U.S. Secretary of Labor Tobin would like to see the C.I.O. and A.F.L. merge.

At a press conference here he said it would be good for labor and good for the country.

But when a reporter asked what kind of merger agreement he would recommend—that is, on what basis—he shrugged, grinned and said: "That's their problem."

So the A.F.L.-C.I.O. unity question still looked the same today—dark.

Ask Clarification

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Labor Council (C.C.L.) Tuesday night decided to seek clarification from labor officials on the question of declaring illegal the action of trade unionists in refusing to cross an established picket line.

The Victoria Building Trades Council, which asked support in promoting repeal of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, said Local 230 of the Electrical Workers' Union had been threatened with prosecution for an alleged illegal work stoppage.

The island council also claimed Local 1598 of the Carpenters and Joiners' Union faced prosecution for refusing to cross or work behind the electricians' picket line.

Wisner Again To Discuss Control Of Comic Books

Attorney General Gordon S. Wisner while in Ottawa next month intends to discuss with federal authorities again the question of control of comic books.

His announcement followed a coroner's jury decision at Dawson Creek this week that two juveniles charged with murder were influenced by comic-book stories of highwaymen.

"It would seem," said the Attorney-General, "this case certainly will spur the drive that women's organizations are pressing to control the distribution of unfavorable types of comic books."

Neutrals Doubt Nanking's View Of Battle Of Suchow

NANKING (AP)—The Chinese government today continued to win the battle of Suchow on paper, but neutral sources believed it was steadily losing vital ground to hard-pressing Communist troops.

Chief Fight On Eastern Flank

The main fighting appears to have erupted on the eastern flank of the Suchow battle. Neutral observers doubted government reports of successes in this area.

One Shanghai newspaper said the Communist encirclement of Nienchuang, 33 miles east of Suchow, had been broken. Another said the Nationalist garrison had withdrawn to the north-west after undergoing night-long bombardment by Red artillery.

The Communist radio declared Tuesday that Red forces had turned against the Suchow defenders. Increasing cloudiness hampered air support such as helped Nationalist ground troops blunt the Communists' opening offensive last week.

Shanghai, 165 miles southeast of Nanking, showed its worry. Chinese officials discussed "total-war" plans. British authorities set up three safety zones for their women and children. United States army planes evacuated U.S. school children from Kuling, China's summer capital 460 miles west of Shanghai.

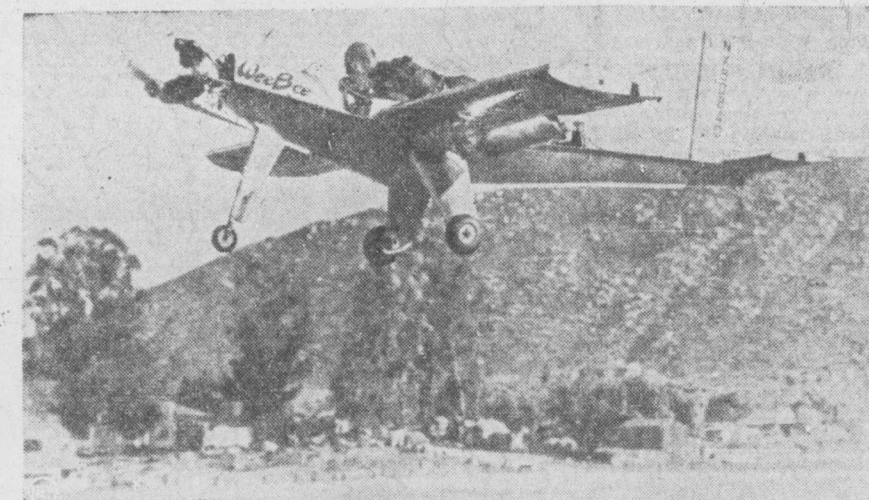

completely destroyed Nationalist Gen. Huang Po-tao's Seventh Army group at Nienchuang.

The army mouthpiece, Peace Daily, reported recapture of Tansuchia, 20 miles east of Suchow (claimed by official sources two weeks ago). It said Nationalist troops had joined forces at Paychi, 25 miles east of Suchow.

Shanghai observers were convinced that Nienchuang and the eastern Suchow flank was lost to the government.

Peace Daily also claimed Nationalist recovery of Suhsien, 60 miles south of Suchow.

World's Smallest Plane Really Flies—Tests In California

Test Pilot William Bouck made a dozen takeoffs at El Cajon, Calif., to prove that this plane, with a wing span of only 15 feet, can really fly. The "Wee Bee," described as the world's smallest plane, weighs 170 pounds, has a 18½-h.p. navy Drone type motor and a cruising range of 90 miles within its two-gallon gasoline limit. Pilot lies atop the plane, handles controls through holes in the fuselage, and is protected from slipstream by goggles, helmet and windshield. (NEA Telephoto.)

Former Child Star Apologizes, Pays $300 For 'Search'

BOBBY GREEN

HAYWARD, Wis. (AP)—A public apology and about $300 is the price Toronto-born singer Bobby Green will pay for the 36 hours a posse spent slogging through snow-choked forests looking for him while he relaxed at a hotel under an assumed name.

Officials of the two counties said they would not bring any charges against the 21-year-old former child movie star.

The bill for $300 was for expenses incurred by the county in the false search.

Breen's apology was directed "to all the guys who went all-out for me."

The text of it: "I am deeply sorry for the inconvenience and hardship I have unwittingly caused many persons, including the pilot who took part in the search for me. We were forced down by bad weather and motor trouble and had we realized a search was being made we would have informed local authorities of our whereabouts. Due to inadequate communications in the locality of where we landed we were unable to complete calls to people we believed interested. There was no hoax nor any attempt to mislead anyone or secure publicity. I wish to sincerely thank everyone who assisted in the search."

High Quality Found In Festival Singing

The standard of singing to be heard this week at the second annual Greater Victoria music festival is a high one. The sweet, young voices of the pupils taking part have obviously been trained well by the teachers.

Monday and Tuesday, 64 classes from various schools were heard at festival performances.

Performances open to the public will be given tonight at George Jay School, Thursday at Monterey School, and Friday at Cloverdale School. All public performances start at 8.

Veterans Warned Of Dec. 31 Deadline

With the deadline fast approaching, veterans must notify D.V.A. officials of their intention to switch from university to vocational training, or vice versa, S. H. Okell, assistant district administrator, warns.

Transfers must be made before Dec. 31. Amendment to the Veterans' Rehabilitation Act passed last July permitted veterans to transfer their credits before Dec. 31. Those eligible to transfer include those who have had less than 12 months of allowance in university, those who previously commenced a course of training and those now engaged in some type of vocational training.

Sentence Reduced By Appeal Court

VANCOUVER (CP)—Robert H. McPherson, 18, of Duncan, Tuesday won his appeal for reduction of sentence on a charge of retaining $150 of a total $1,500, allegedly stolen from the Sunny Brae Dairy at Duncan. The Appeal Court here granted a one-year reduction of his original 18-month sentence.

Earl Lewis Teasdale, who previously had pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the same dairy, lost his appeal from an 18-month sentence.

Man Arrested In Vancouver For Saanich Break-In

Sgt. Eric Elwell of the Saanich Police reported today that a 20-year-old youth has been arrested in Vancouver and charged with the breaking and entering of Mullins' painting and decorating premises at 3242 Douglas Street on Oct. 20.

The paint shop was robbed of approximately $1,000 worth of brushes and paints.

Sgt. Elwell, who said the young man would be tried in Vancouver, reported that as a result of this apprehension all the blank cheques with Charles Mullins' signature on them have been recovered.

College Students Marooned By Winds

Heavy winds Tuesday evening marooned two Victoria College students on the chain group of Discovery Island for several hours until rescuers managed to reach them.

The two, W. Cross and D. Bailey, had gone out duck shooting in a 12-foot rowboat during the afternoon and were caught by the winds which sprang up, and kept them storm bound on the chain group.

Learning of the students' plight, rescuers put out from the Oak Bay boathouse through the heavy seas to reach the boys.

John Bowker, with Don Jamieson and Mr. Jamieson's boat the Hetty J., left about 9 in the evening and after a tricky and dangerous passage to the chain group, managed to rescue the students and bring them back to shore by midnight.

The two youths suffered little but hunger from their mishap.

Vancouver Still 'Rainiest City'

Victoria still has less rainfall than Vancouver! This statement may be confirmed by the following figures compiled from the Sea Island and Gonzales Meteorological stations.

Weathermen at the mainland centre predicted that a possible 12-year record rainfall will be shattered, but Victorians, complaining of the consistency of the rain here during the last few weeks are informed that the precipitation during the month has been normal.

In Vancouver, a total of 6.96 inches have fallen, just 46 inch under the record of 7.42 established in 1945, and there is still a week left in the month. Victorians have fared much better, with only 3.17 inches recorded during the month, while the average is 4.10.

Comparative rainfall figures show up clearly in the fact that during a 24-hour period ending at 4.30 yesterday afternoon, .70 inch descended here, while in Vancouver, a total of .84 was recorded in 12 hours.

Nfld., Dominion Agree to Change Financial Terms

OTTAWA (CP)—After lengthy negotiations, Newfoundland and Canada have agreed on financial terms considerably different from tentative arrangements suggested a year ago when the island's entry into confederation was discussed.

A source in close touch with the union negotiations, under way here since Oct. 6, said that while the terms are different, the financial burden on Canada has not been increased. In the tentative arrangements of last year, it was estimated the island's entry into Confederation would cause an additional drain of $15,000,000 a year on the federal treasury.

Since the negotiations were reopened last month, the Newfoundland delegation has been able to show that the federal deficit will amount to little more than $7,000,000 a year.

Saanich Accident

A car driven by Miss Annie E. Curtis, Prospect Lake Post Office, was damaged to the extent of $300, but the driver escaped injuries, in an accident Monday evening on West Saanich Road, near Marchants Road. Saanich police said the car went over a 15-foot bank and turned over at the bottom. Miss Curtis told Saanich police attending the front wheel went into a hole and in trying to get it out, the car went over the bank.

Search For Youth On Cortes Island Missing 2 Days

Search of Cortes Islands, at the north end of the Gulf of Georgia between Campbell River and the mainland, continued this morning for Frank Fretwell, 15-year-old hunter of Manson's Landing. He has been missing since Monday.

Provincial police at Campbell River reported the boy himself had still not been found, and Inspector Robert Owens of the B.C. Provincial Police in Victoria left this morning with Rangers' personnel and their bloodhound for gulf island.

Inspector Owens will direct search operations. Going with him will be Gordon Sward, head ranger of the South Vancouver Islands Rangers, and Reay Mel-drum, one of the handlers of the dog, Sir Roderick of Ogden. Yesterday a 30-man search group failed to find the youth on the island which is 15 miles long and seven and one-half wide.

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—A school bus loaded with young students collided with a lumber truck on a narrow bridge near here Tuesday and at least two children were killed. Thirteen or more children were injured, some critically.

Youth Exonerated; Shot Father Dead

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—A 16-year-old boy who testified he had threatened his father with a shotgun to protect his mother from a beating was exonerated Tuesday by a coroner's jury which investigated the father's death.

Charles Anthony Setleeh told the jury: "My finger must have slipped. I was going to try and scare dad. I wouldn't have hurt him for nothing."

The father, Nicholas J. Setleeh, 39, father of four children, was killed in his home early Tuesday.

Commons Approves Civil Defence Bill

LONDON (Reuters) — The House of Commons Tuesday night approved in principle the government's Civil Defence Bill creating a peacetime reserve of trained personnel, qualified to deal with any attack on Britain, including atomic warfare.

The bill received second reading without division.

Home Secretary James Chuter Ede told the Commons, the general purpose of the measure is to establish the framework of a civil defence organization which could be brought into use and expanded quickly.

EASY GENERALITIES

DESPITE EXPLANATIONS THAT IT IS justified by its help to municipalities and social services, says the Vancouver Daily Province editorially, "taxpayers aren't reconciled to the sales tax." Our mainland contemporary also informs us "there is talk that the tax wasn't necessary in the first place," and that there are "fears that it may become a revenue grab bag into which future governments will dip whenever they feel the need for extra spending money." Then we read:

If the government expects the taxpayers to take a more understanding and friendly view toward one of the most unpopular taxes it should offer some concrete assurances about the levy.

It should undertake that the tax will not be allowed to become a "creeping tax" that grows whenever the government needs money.

It should be franker about the tax returns and undertake to reduce the impact if it produces millions more than anticipated.

Let us consider the points raised by the Vancouver newspaper. To begin with, nobody is ever really reconciled to a new tax. But when it doubts, or seems to doubt, the necessity for this impost, our contemporary implies that the municipalities did not know what they were talking about when, last year, they asked for a sales tax so that its revenue might help them out of their post-war financial difficulties. Do we hear any mayor and council in British Columbia indulging in "talk that the tax wasn't necessary?" And we suggest that the "fears" of the revenue ultimately consolidating itself into a "grab bag" are fears trotted out to serve some political or other purpose. It may be taken, undoubtedly, that "concrete assurances" which the Daily Province thinks should be forthcoming will have appropriate attention at the next session of the Legislature.

This brings us to what the Vancouver daily calls "persistent reports from Victoria" that the treasury may collect "more like $25 million or $30 million" instead of the $12 million originally estimated as the first year's return from this tax. Where, may we ask, do these reports originate? And on what ground does our contemporary base its demand that the government be "franker" about the tax returns at this juncture—less than five months since collection of the impost began? Or is it merely using the "fears" of the Vancouver Centre Liberal Association—that this phase of the government's financial policy may "backfire" on the Coalition—as an excuse for a little needling of the administration on general principles? If so, it is, wittingly or unwittingly, egging on a small element which still thinks the Liberal Party can go it alone and sweep the province at the next provincial general election.

Without going into too many details, we suggest that if the Vancouver Daily Province will study Dominion statistics of tax collections from various sources since 1941, it will discover a startling month-to-month fluctuation—so much so that if the provincial treasury at this stage were to be "franker about" the returns, the computation conceivably could be wholly misleading. Surely the mainland daily is not so impatient in its own behalf, or in behalf of those with whom "persistent reports from Victoria" originate, as to insist upon a detailed accounting of the proceeds of a tax less than five months old in its operation.

WINS APPROVAL

THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT THE city will provide light and water to the newly-constructed fishermen's wharf at the foot of Erie Street will be applauded by all who had looked to this harbor facility to furnish needed accommodation to the small boats which make this their home port. Some indecision as to responsibility, arising from the fact that the wharf was built by the federal government, has now been overcome, and we are told that the services in question are already well under way. Fishermen who use the dock have expressed full approval of the new convenience, and it is well that the project has been further improved by the latest additions. It is reasonable to expect that further units of the fishing industry will thus be attracted to the city.

TWO STRAIGHT FIGHTS

NEXT MONDAY'S BY-ELECTIONS IN the provincial ridings of Rossland-Trail and South Okanagan will be straight fights between Coalition candidates and standard-bearers of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

The former seat in the Legislature became vacant on the death of Mr. James L. Webster, who won the day in the general election of 1945 as a Liberal-Conservative by defeating C.C.F. candidate Hagen with a vote of 3,171 to 933. The latter riding was vacated by Conservative-Coalitionist W. A. C. Bennett, who retired from the provincial field to contest the Dominion seat of Yale on the retirement of Hon. Grote Stirling. Bennett lost to the C.C.F. nominee in that three-cornered battle. The former provincial member had won handsomely over the Socialist in the provincial general election of 1945.

By reason of the fact that the Coalition standard-bearers in both these important provincial ridings will be able to count on the joint support at the polls of Liberal and Progressive Conservative adherents the result should not be in doubt. But in these uncertain times—witness the pollsters in the recent presidential elections in the United States—prophets will naturally be reticent in their prognostications.

Among other promises of which the followers of Opposition Leader Harold Winch are making much on the hustings are a substantial increase in the payment to old age pensioners and the abolition of the sales tax. How they propose to carry out this program, of course, in the unlikely event of their acquiring political power in this province, is not explained. But it stands to reason that the intelligent electors of Rossland-Trail and South Okanagan are fully aware that only one tax dollar—their own—is available to do the trick.

THE MAYOR'S PLAN

AS A MEANS OF ELIMINATING A LOT of the petty detail work and time-wasting tasks now imposed on city aldermen, the proposal of Mayor Percy George to reorganize committees and to place more responsibility for day-to-day administration in the hands of a group of three key department heads should ensure immediate and favorable study. The faults to rectify which the plan has been suggested are well known. Under conditions as they exist, businessmen who might render substantial service to the city as elected representatives are declining to stand for office. They have not enough time to devote to council activities—more particularly committee meetings—and look after their private affairs as well. Furthermore, those with virtually unlimited hours at their disposal find, as the city's business is now run, that they become bogged down in consideration of matters which are little related to policy and which, under more favorable circumstances, would not fall within their province.

Mayor George's scheme, it will be noted, suggests an administrative triumvirate of top officials in preference to the more generally discussed city manager. One of the more apparent values of the mayor's plan, it would seem, lies in the advantage of three heads in place of one to carry out policy that has been set. Those who talk loosely of a manager are prone to assume that the appointment of such an official would correspond to the rubbing of Aladdin's lamp—a genie would appear and problems would be solved by magic. A first-class city manager might achieve near miracles, though every man has his blind spots. On the other hand, if the individual chosen for that office were something less than first-class, he might succeed only in compounding the city's difficulties and creating frictions.

By the implementation of the George suggestions, then, greater efficiency could be achieved. Aldermen and staffs would find themselves encroaching less and less on each other's respective sphere and administrative authority would be more firmly established. Policy would be the principal field of council members and execution would be left to the designated employees with a vast saving in energy, time and patience for the elected representatives.

UNFORTUNATELY NECESSARY

WITH CANADA TAKING AN EVER more prominent part in international affairs, the proposed peacetime navy of 10,000 men is hardly out of line with the requirements of an unsettled world and certainly less in proportion than the defensive forces maintained by leading powers. The complicated nature of modern warfare—the intricacy of equipment and the necessity of constant technical improvement—is such that it takes considerable time to train crews to handle their weapons. To start from scratch on the outbreak of a conflict would impose a possibly fatal delay in getting national defence under way. A large, well-trained nucleus is a necessity.

Canada's most important naval role in the Second World War was in protection of the convoys that travelled the sea lanes to Britain. The vital lines of communication, over which passed thousands of armed fighting men and many thousands of tons of equipment and supplies, meant the difference between victory and defeat. The Royal Canadian Navy did its job well. In any future war, our naval contribution quite probably would take a similar form. Whichever the hemisphere in which the land battles were fought, the Atlantic and Pacific Ocean lanes would be of major importance. They could not be replaced by total dependence on air travel, extensive as the latter undoubtedly would become. Consequently the announcement that a "fast new escort vessel" is being developed for anti-submarine warfare is timely.

Recent accounts of the "Schnorkel" attachment for submarines—a device that enables a U-boat to remain under water indefinitely, even while using its Diesel engines—have brought to public attention the great threat to ocean transport that has been developed. Because it does not have to depend on batteries for sub-surface propulsion, the submarine that Germany began to produce in quantity just as the recent war ended has greatly increased the difficulties of detection and destruction. Soviet Russia, which has no appreciable navy in other categories, is reported to have taken over the German yards that build the "Schnorkel" and to be producing the improved craft in considerable numbers. Estimates put her submarine strength today at upwards of 200. When one recalls that in at least one stage of the war the old type German U-boats threatened to snap the lifelines between Europe and North America, the new menace is one to cause sober thought in western naval circles. The uncertain world situation is forcing this country to undertake defensive measures.

The proposed fleet of small anti-submarine vessels could scarcely come under the accusation of aggressive preparations.

After Key West

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
From Washington

THE GREAT ACCOMPLISHMENT at Key West, it now appears, was to forge a close link between President Truman and the Congressional leaders. The President on holiday took all sorts of good resolutions to rectify one of the great errors of his first administration, which was failing to keep in touch with the day to day conduct of legislative business.

At Key West, he told both Vice President Barkley and Speaker Rayburn that he was determined to enact what his staff calls his "second New Deal". And he promised to work closely with them on this long, complex and arduous task.

IF THESE GOOD resolutions are kept, Key West has answered one of the two big questions about the future of the second Truman administration. But unless a good many of his Key West companions were utterly misled, the President put off answering the other, even bigger and much more painful question until his holiday was over. His central problem, of staffing the new administration with men who will command the utmost public confidence, does not appear to have been finally solved as yet.

Certain steps have been taken, to be sure. The President evidently concluded during the campaign that if Secretary Marshall had to leave the State Department, Chief Justice Vinson would be the best replacement. This was in his mind, of course, when he conceived the Vinson mission to Stalin. It now seems to be fairly well established that the Chief Justice was sounded out about leaving the court soon after November 2, and indicated the greatest reluctance to do so. Thus, no doubt, the President's own reluctance to part with Marshall, the man he most admires, was still further increased.

THEN, TOO, THERE is evidence that the President has already told his two particular cronies in the Cabinet, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and Attorney General Clark, that he wants them to stay on if they wish to do so. But it is not yet clear whether Snyder and Clark will remain permanently in the Cabinet, or will move on at once to the Bank of America post and the important law partnership they have been respectively considering, or will stay for a while and move on later. The last alternative seems the most likely.

What has happened to date, however, merely makes the President's central problem a bit more thorny. The logic of the election demands that the domestic side of the new Truman administration be given a much more New Dealish tinge. But this will be far harder to do if the distinctly conservative Snyder and Clark are retained, and are joined by the President's fishing friend, the amiable but entirely second rate lame duck Governor of Washington, Mon C. Wallgren.

EQUALLY, THE LOGIC of the election demands that if George C. Marshall, Robert A. Lovett and James V. Forrestal are to resign the management of foreign and defense policy, they must be replaced by men of equal calibre. And this will be immensely hard to do also.

Here the President's problem has been complicated by an extraordinary campaign of rumors directed against Lovett and Forrestal, originating in certain Zionist quarters, and countenanced by some of the less creditable members of the President's own staff. The President has given warm evidence of his taste for the whole business. His ablest and most important staff member, Clark Clifford, in whose mouths some of these stories have been unscrupulously put, has formally registered his strong indignation. Yet the complication none the less remains.

A SECOND COMPLICATION exists in the form of the eager candidacy of Louis Johnson for Forrestal's post at the Defense Department. Johnson has always wanted this job. His claim to it now rests on his service as Democratic money collector during the campaign. His only overt supporter is the President's bungling military aide, Major General Harry Vaughn. And while Johnson is an able man, many leading Democrats are deeply fearful of the country's reaction to his appointment.

He is chiefly known for his feud at the old War Department with Secretary of War Woodring, his talents as an American Legion kingmaker, and his large utilities law practice.

IT IS THOUGHT THAT naming a man with his background to the second most important post in the government, as a frank reward for labor in one of the more sordid areas of the political vineyard, will not be exactly conducive to public confidence. None the less, Johnson's claim will be strong if Forrestal retires.

All these different factors are causing the wisest of the Democratic chieftains now milling about Washington, to wonder whether the President will change his Cabinet so drastically after all. In many respects, his easiest way out will be to keep Marshall, Lovett and Forrestal along with most of the rest of his official family.

PERHAPS THIS IS wishful thinking by those who regard public confidence as the President's greatest need. But the idea is at any rate as well worth recording as the other theories that are now flying about. (Copyright, 1948, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

Today more than ever mankind desperately needs freedom from fears of war and from threats of war in order to repair the ravages of the recent conflict and to move forward to higher levels of civilized existence.—Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

As Our Readers See It

HOTELS AND LIQUOR

The Vancouver Island Hotel Association recently held a meeting during which the speech made by Bishop Sexton before the Gyro Club as reported by your valuable paper was heartily endorsed.

We feel the time has come for alterations in the Liquor Act. Visitors are continually demanding beverage facilities to which they are entitled as guests. The public would definitely support a change if they were aware of the Hotelman's problems due to bedroom drinking.

At the present time, the Government Liquor Store or the illicit trade, places a terrifying responsibility upon the hotel-keeper. He must be eternally vigilant to prevent young people slipping to bedrooms to consume the contents of bottles secured at the liquor vendors or elsewhere. Hotel premises are continually sought for this purpose. At the moment we do all in our power to prevent adolescent girls being taken to guest rooms.

It must be admitted that at times we are outwitted with dire consequences especially to the young girl or girls. At such times we cannot escape the thought that our law and the public combine to the misfortune of our youth, to the discredit of our premises, and to the placing upon us of a responsibility which is all one-sided.

J. E. NELL, President;
W. M. J. CLARK, Secretary,

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM

On Saturday, Nov. 6, at 10:30 p.m. I got on a Colville Road bus with the intention of transferring at Head Street to an Esquimalt bus going west. The operator told me he could not issue a transfer at that point. In consequence I had to pay a second fare to reach my destination or walk from the Naval Barracks to the 500 Block on Admirals Road (nearly a mile). I wrote the Transport Mgr., B.C.E. Ry., asking him for an adjustment but to date have had no reply. This is a matter serious to the residents of Admirals Road E. It would seem that one has to walk from Government Head Street to Douglas to get a bus going to Esquimalt or pay a second fare from Head Street.

There were several of us going the same way and on arrival at Head Street we all had to pay an extra fare on the Esquimalt Road bus. Would it not be to the advantage of the community if Head Street was made a transfer point?

To Know Canada Better

FEW Canadians have the opportunity to know at first hand all the geographic features of their own province. Fewer still are informed on the attributes of other provinces. The average British Columbian, for instance, may have caught a glimpse of a section of the prairies through which the train passes, and may recognize various points of interest in the cities and towns he has visited. Too many, however, are woefully ignorant of the geography and history of other parts of the Dominion. Too few recollect the lessons learned in their early school days.

This is a deficiency that is particularly painful at a time when Canadians are achieving a new appreciation of their nationhood. If they are honest with themselves, they will frequently find their outlook predominantly provincial—not because they wish to see only a narrow horizon, but because they have been limited in their appreciation of the other sections which go to make up their country.

REMEDY

A means of overcoming this difficulty in part at least is furnished by the recent series of booklets published by The Canadian Geographical Society on provincial aspects. Here is a composite story, well told and illustrated, dealing with the physical features of Canada by provinces. It outlines natural resources, climate and potentialities, together with industries and attractions. The pamphlets are complemented by brief historical backgrounds and enjoy an authenticity devoid of bias. Originally compiled to assist in the social studies of students, they have won favorable reception from members of the general public. As a means of acquiring readily assimilable facts, they commend themselves for home reading. To the people of our province, the British Columbia booklet, prepared by Mr. John Gough, is particularly interesting. It is an excellent sample of a series well worth space on any bookshelf.—A.H.S.

End Of A Chapter

The Times of London

THE whole Commonwealth and Empire join in salute to the great leader who goes out undefeated. All will hope that he will soon cast off the illness that restrained his contribution to the recent London meetings of the Commonwealth Prime Ministers and that his promised memoirs will not be too long delayed. The book will be a historical document of first-rate importance.

UNRIVALED CAREER

Mr. King's career at the head of the State has been unrivalled for duration by any British statesman since Burghley; and like Burghley he has guided the destinies of his country during almost all the most crucial years of its emergence as a world power.

The first international recognition of Canada's sovereign status, by her subscription of the Versailles Treaty and the Covenant of the League of Nations, was achieved under the Conservative Sir Robert Borden; but it fell to Mr. King, when he came to power in 1921, to be mainly responsible for exercising the sovereign rights.

He has adhered with equal resolution to two principles that to some seemed contradictory:

on the one hand steady cooperation under the Crown and common action in time of danger with all the other British nations, and on the other the unqualified independence of Canada.

With these ideas in his mind, he dominated the visiting delegations to the Imperial Conference of 1926; and Dominion status, as defined by the Statute of Westminster in 1931, aptly took its name from the constitutional title of the Canadian realm, and bore conspicuously the stamp of Mr. King's thought.

Just Prices

Ottawa Citizen

Private enterprise has taught the public to believe that lower mark-ups can be taken when the volume of business increases, and a fair return still be made on capital invested. But even consumers can see that when prices double, it requires only half the margin on sales to return the same gross profit.

GLOBAL SURVEY

(Editor's Note: This column is presented as an indication of American reaction to major world events.)

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press News Analyst

THE KING'S ILLNESS is a matter of more than ordinary concern, since it comes in the midst of a great crisis in the history of the Commonwealth.

It is at moments like this that Americans view the ruler in the light of a symbolic figure whose kingship is the chief bond which has held the vast Commonwealth together. That bond is a delicate one, whose strength comes largely from the character of the wearer of the crown.

It's tough on a fellow to be regarded as a symbol when he is ill. That's a time when he doesn't want respectful homage, but plain, garden variety of sympathy—and happily in the present instance the King is getting not only respect but the vast sympathy to which he is entitled because of service to his people.

King George is what my young son would call a "good guy." That's as apt a description as I could figure out for this willing and humble servant of his subjects, and I've been watching him in action for 32 years, much of that time at close range.

We can go further, I think, and say without exaggeration that he has rendered his country a greater service than perhaps any of his modern predecessors in the long line of British sovereigns. That's a sweeping statement, but I call your attention to this:

He was thrust willy-nilly upon the throne at a moment when Edward VIII and "the woman I love" had rocked it most dangerously.

DOUBTFUL HERITAGE

To make matters worse Britain shortly was plunged into a second world war, and this was followed by an economic crisis.

A less steady and adaptable and loyal ruler could easily have completed the damage growing out of the abdication.

Kingship demands long and special training. George naturally had been given some of this as a possible occupant of the throne, but it was Edward, Prince of Wales, who had been schooled with utmost care from babyhood for rule.

GOODWILL AND ENERGY

However, George attacked his job with goodwill and energy. And always by his side was his understanding and helpful Scots Queen. With her aid he even overcame a grievous impediment of speech so that he could make the addresses which are part of the King's duty.

WATER WON'T WAIT

Ottawa Journal

The idea of relating stream flow (the amount of water available for hydro power during the fall months) to the amount of timber remaining along the banks of rivers and their tributaries is not new. But it has been largely disregarded with the result that most of our major rivers today flow between hills denuded of any substantial timber. As Mr. W. H. Munro, general manager of Ottawa Light Heat and Power, remarked at this meeting: "The water will not wait on bare hills until we are ready to use it in September."

NOVEL DOCTRINE

Ulster Commentary

Loose thinking has led some to suppose that a state can decline to give allegiance to the Crown and yet form part of a British Commonwealth of Nations by some undefined "association." This is novel doctrine indeed. Ulster's position is clear: she treasures and will not relinquish her status within the United Kingdom. Allegiance to the Crown is the test of good citizenship in England, Scotland, Wales, and the overseas Dominions; so also it is in Ulster.

A NATION OF ACTORS

B.B.C. London Letters

It would be difficult to find a town of any size in the British Isles that hadn't a little group of amateur actors, producers and scene designers; groups of eager people who take their recreation in the theatre as seriously as they take the every-day jobs. Most of our factories, as well as our large business houses, have amateur theatricals organized by members of the staff; so that you wouldn't be far wrong, after counting the number of these, if you arrived at the conclusion that we are a nation of theatre-minded enthusiasts.

25 Missionaries From Canada Plan To Remain In China

OTTAWA (CP)—Roughly 25 Canadian Roman Catholic missionaries are expected to try to remain behind the Communist lines in the Chinese civil war that has prompted Canada to warn some 500 of her nationals they should consider evacuation of that country, it was learned here.

External Affairs sources say it is too early yet to tell whether a general exodus of the scattered Canadians—mostly missionaries and businessmen—in north and central China has resulted from an official warning that "they should consider the desirability of leaving, unless they have compelling reasons to remain."

However, it is thought one or two priests of the Foreign Missionary Society have remained in Manchuria and two dozen or so members of the Jesuit Order are in or near the Communist territories in central China and intend to try to remain with their flocks.

SEPTEMBER STATEMENT

The Communists said in September they would welcome missionaries "if they are not spies." There is evidence from the past that spy charges can be trumped up without great difficulty, but the chief dangers the Canadians run are from mob actions, probably springing from Red propaganda that brands Canadians as "running dogs of the American imperialists."

So far, evacuation is on a personal basis that exploits whatever means of transportation are available. It is quite probable that Canadian businessmen in threatened areas are moving back because there would be no reason for them to remain once they could no longer do business.

Some Of Bikini's Deadly Secrets Told By Scientist

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the secrets of Bikini—deadly radioactivity on the ships' decks, in their rigging, in the water, in the rocks, on the sand, in the air and even tramped about by men's boots—are told by Dr. David Bradley, one of the scientists.

Dr. Bradley was a Manhattan district atomic bomb worker, and at the Bikini test explosions in 1946 he was one of the radioactive safety men. His job was to fly or walk into dangerous places with a Geiger counter to see how many rays were filling the air.

"No Place to Hide," the title of his book published Monday, is his idea of what the whole world may face if it fights atomic bomb wars.

One of the secrets is that the United States navy found a way to decontaminate ships' decks of the deadly radioactivity.

Sand-blasting removed the rays—provided the blast got all the paint. The blasting was done by heavily-clothed men wearing oxygen masks to protect them from breathing the dust.

Where wooden decks were radioactive the navy learned that an ordinary carpenter's plane, cutting off a little less than a quarter of an inch of wood, also removed all the rays.

The navy learned, too, that all kinds of washing serves only to drive the deadly atoms deeper into wood.

Dr. Bradley predicted that plastic paint, that can be stripped off the ship and thrown overboard in sheets, might be a protection.

Since he made this prediction, such paint has been used in laboratories of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, and is stripped off when it gets contaminated from radioactive experiments.

Britain Says West Europe Parliament Not Possible

PARIS (AP)—Britain will advise her Brussels-pact allies soon that a Western European parliament is beyond present-day achievement, authoritative British sources said here Tuesday.

The sources said Britain was to have made this point today at a meeting of representatives of the five powers—Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

TO MEET FRIDAY

However, because of Belgium's current political crisis, today's meeting was postponed until Friday. A committee of Brussels Alliance representatives called the session to begin a study of how to promote greater European unity.

The new postponement was the second. The talks originally were scheduled to have begun last week.

Last month when the five powers announced they were asking the United States and Canada to join with them in a North Atlantic defence pact, the British informants said their Labor Government felt it was not feasible now to convene such a parliament because it believed:

1. Members of the proposed parliament would not represent, in the democratic sense, any group of people because it would not be possible now to hold elections on a representative basis.
2. Continental unity, with a solid base established chiefly through economic co-operation, should precede such a parliament.
3. Formation of such a parliament would just be going through the motions of federating Europe, would accomplish nothing and might damage what practical political unity now exists in Western Europe.

Toronto Horseshow $1,500 Prize Goes To Ontario Jumper

TORONTO (CP)—The Royal Winter Fair will close up shop tonight on its 20th annual show—in many ways the biggest and best yet.

Farmers and exhibitors will begin tonight to send home the record totals of livestock, poultry, grain and produce that made the fair what it was—the biggest agricultural exposition in the world.

Tuesday night's horse show was climaxed by the faultless performance of a six-year-old chestnut gelding jumper—Wings—which romped off with the rich $1,500 president's jumping stake, donated by the fair's president, J. A. Northey. Veteran steeplechase rider Bill Owens rode the horse to its win for W. R. Ballard of Weston, Ont.

PRAIRIE, ONTARIO WINNERS

Four more grand champions were chosen from a line-up of purebred beef cattle.

Grand championship females in their breed were Herefords—silver trophy, owned by W. A. Crawford-Forst, Nanton, Alta.; shorthorns—Maxine Duchess, owned by T. G. Hamilton, Innisfail, Alta.; Aberdeen-Angus—Pardelle M., owned by Witham Farms, Romeo, Mich.; dual-purpose Shorthorns—Cheapside Betty Anne, owned by H. M. Atkinson, Nanticoke, Ont.

Auctions Tuesday of beef and swine carcasses brought average prices of 56 cents a pound for beef, 61 cents for Wiltshire sides and 51 cents for hog carcasses.

Grand champion beef carcass shown by William G. Jackson and Sons of Downview, Ont., brought 90 cents a pound; the champion Wiltshire side entered by Preston Hooker of Cooksville, Ont., sold at $1.40 and the winner of the Todd Trophy in swine carcass judging, William Pinkney and Sons of Cooksville, Ont., received $1.25 for the carcass.

Israel Makes Plans For Its Economic Self-Sufficiency

TEL AVIV (AP)—Against a background of possible peace talks, Israel is planning its venture into the world to seek its economic fortunes.

When the war in which this state was born comes to an end—most people here think that will be soon—Israel wants to quit being the financial stepchild of Jews who live elsewhere.

Planning is under way now, even before the shooting stops, to make Israel a self-supporting state.

Typical of the small group of men who are planning for peace is Dr. Heinz Ludwig, German-born industrial expert and economist. He predicts rigid austerity at home and far-flung sales drives abroad as Israel's postwar diet.

NO LOSS OF TIME

"We'll have no breather," said Ludwig in an interview.

"All our manpower, industrial capacity and hard money, now tied up in a total war effort, will have to go into housing, farm improvements and industrialization."

Here's the way Ludwig and others of the Israeli economic planners think it can be done:

1. Expansion of the manufacture of local consumer-goods to lessen or stop the import of food, clothes, appliances and such. This "austerity" would save dollars to buy machinery and raw materials which can not be made here.

2. Expand export industries to earn additional dollars and pounds and to barter for what can not be bought. Pre-war exports from Palestine consisted mainly of polished diamonds, potash and other chemicals from the Dead Sea, and citrus fruits, plus a few minor products.

The export drive envisaged for the postwar period will include such items as ready-to-wear clothes, medicines, plastic articles and electrical appliances —all to be converted into finished saleable products from imported raw materials.

The main aim of the whole program is to narrow the gulf between imports and exports—$250,000,000 this year as compared with $100,000,000 last year.

Kiwanians Story Depicted In Film

The story of Kiwanians in action was depicted in a film entitled "Fred Jones—Kiwanian" shown to the local branch of the club at its luncheon meeting Tuesday.

The picture, which took several months to produce, has a cast of 3,000 and 147 separate location scenes. These are mostly people and scenes in everyday life in the United States and Canada.

The part of Fred Jones, portrayed as a pharmacist in an American city, was played by Robert Allen, New York and Hollywood stage and screen star.

Evidence of the expansion of the Kiwanis Club was given in an announcement in this week's bulletin. It was pointed out that membership had increased from 178,515 at the end of September, 1947, to 187,827 at the end of September this year.

Over the same period the number of clubs has increased from 2,670 to 2,855.

Defence Requirements Help Keep Living Costs, Taxation High

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence requirements, cutting two ways, are helping keep living costs up and are at least partially dimming expectations of heavy income tax cuts for Canadians in the next budget.

The first factor so far is rooted largely in the United States rearmament program, which has an important indirect effect on the Canadian economy.

The second stems from a number of indications that next year's defence budget will surpass that for the 1948-49 fiscal year, which included $251,000,000 in cash and nearly $100,000,000 in authority for added commitments.

The indications include: 1. Disclosure by high defence sources that "we have reached the point where we have to consider buying new equipment" on a scale considerably larger than in the past. Equipment costs this year, for example, run to only 12 per cent.

2. Manpower, whose pay and needs eat up 50 per cent of the budget, is going up slowly and every effort is being made to boost the rate. The regular forces now have about 37,000 men.

3. Canada hopes to get cut in on U.S. defence orders to support her own armaments industry, but will probably have to contribute heavily herself to the rearming of western Europe. Cabinet sources say there is as yet no immediate sign of U.S. orders.

4. The decision, announced some time ago, to stockpile enough material for a year's war effort.

5. A general increase in the tempo of preparedness all along the line.

6. Anticipation that if the civil service campaign for a living bonus wins through it will affect the services, too.

$227,000,000 EARMARKED

Of the $251,000,000 in cash set aside by the government for this year, $117,000,000 had actually been spent by the end of October. Of the $251,000,000 plus $37,000,000 for extra commitments this year—things ordered but which might or might not be delivered—a total of $227,000,000 had been committed by the end of September. But commitments cover such things as pay and fuel for the entire year.

That is, a soldier's pay would be committed at the start of the year, but not paid.

Of $61,000,000 set aside for future commitments—that is orders for things that won't be delivered this year—$13,000,000 had been committed by the end of September.

Adequate Drainage Sought For Land By Sandwich Veterans

COURTENAY—Immediate provision of adequate drainage along the road through the Sandwich V.L.A. subdivision will be sought from the Provincial Minister of Public Works by veterans owning houses and land in the area, it was decided at a meeting in Courtenay Canadian Legion Hall. Charges of V.L.A. inaction and "buck passing" were hurled at the meeting called to discuss the situation of flooded basements and inundated land which followed the recent storms.

Veterans were told by V.L.A. officials present that the problem was one of area drainage with which the V.L.A. did not concern itself. Robert Stark, owner of property on the west boundary of the subdivision, said the water was making a swamp out of his place. A seed grower, he said his livelihood depended on the land being drained.

Regional supervisor for the V.L.A., G. L. Chatterton suggested petitioning the government to have the area drained. Residents attending the meeting made allegations of poor workmanship and incompetent inspection in regard to construction of houses in the V.L.A. subdivision at Sandwich.

Comox South Forms Liberal Association

John Maltman of Victoria, Liberal organizer for Vancouver, was chairman and organizer of the meeting, assisted by Roy Cliffe, president of the Courtenay-Comox Liberal Association.

Logger Injured In Woods Accident

CAMPBELL RIVER — Struck on the head by a falling sapling in the woods, John Daoust, 23, an employee of the Fawn Bluff Logging Co. on Stuart Island, is in Lourdes Hospital at Campbell River, in critical condition. A B.C. Air Lines plane flew him to Campbell River.

Need For Nursery Schools Stressed

Mrs. G. D. Aikenhead spoke on the need in the modern home for nursery schools for toddlers when she addressed the annual general meeting of the Nursery School Association of Greater Victoria, held at Prince Robert House.

The fact that young mothers are often well informed on how to care for an infant, but have little or no knowledge of how to cope with the manifold activities and interests of the toddler, was stressed by Miss Aikenhead.

Mrs. C. L. Aylard, president, in her report stated that a second bursary of $150 had been given to Miss Ruth Martin to enable her to take her Master's degree after a second year's work at the Institute of Child Study in Toronto. Mrs. V. E. Ashdown reported on an address given to members by Dr. William Blatz, director of the Institute of Child Study of Toronto University, recently.

The following were elected to the new executive: Mesdames C. L. Aylard, A. J. Tullis, E. F. W. Cox, D. E. Smith, A. J. Whitfield, C. D. Stockdill, Misses V. E. Ashdown, E. Girvin and I. D. Sar-ratt.

During the last year, the following organizations have been regularly represented at meetings of the Nursery School Association: Parent-Teacher Association, Mrs. R. A. Freemantle; Women's Institute, Miss Lottie Byrom; Greater Victoria Women's Institute, Miss E. Wilson; C.C.F. Women's Council, Miss Joy Oldfield, and Young Wives' Fellowship, Mrs. Mabae.

Y.P. Societies

Local Council—The Victoria and District A.Y.P.A. Local Council held its monthly meeting in the Memorial Hall with president Eileen James in the chair. Bernice Mullen was named coming events registrar for the balance of the season. Provincial council report was read by Audrey Gray.

W.I. Board Allocates Fund Moneys, Discusses Problems

A successful two-day session was held by the members of the Provincial Board of Women's Institutes, Monday and Tuesday in Victoria.

Mrs. J. H. East, Keremeos, president of the board, and Mrs. S. E. Gummow, provincial superintendent, presided and from discussions many recommendations will be sent to institutes in the province.

Mrs. R. Doe, secretary-treasurer, reported the institute memorial fund had reached a total of $5,700 and that a special effort was to be made to increase the total to a point where awards may be made next September.

Three appeals for assistance through the Othea Scott fund were considered: for a young boy at Chase, to assist in purchasing a wheel chair for an incurably crippled girl, who had been treated at the Solum and is now home in the Peace River and for assistance to bring a girl from Vanderhoof to the Solum.

It was announced that there is still $2,000 in the institute fund. Two appeals were considered and a supply of towels sent from a Quebec institute for the Fraser Valley, were accepted for distribution.

From discussions it was decided the greatest needs in rural districts are for better dental service and for rural electrification and resolutions, from the board on these points, will be presented by Mrs. East to the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, meeting in Vancouver today and tomorrow.

Recommendations to be sent to all institutes in the province include a new project in citizenship—the study of the Indians and their problems—a suggestion that more fall fairs and flower shows be sponsored by institutes and that greater use be made of experimental farms and government services. In the field of handicrafts it was suggested that more institutes take part in the P.N.E. Exhibition next year.

Need of home nursing classes in rural areas was discussed with George Edwardson, St. John Ambulance, as special guest.

Mrs. East, second federal representative with Mrs. R. W. Chalmers, British Columbia representative, will attend a Dominion gathering in Saskatoon next June. Mrs. East and Mrs. Gummow will take part in a radio farm forum in Vancouver next Friday. Mrs. A. Shaw was named to again take charge of the institute display booth at the P.N.E. Exhibition in the coming year.

Outstanding Women—An interesting talk on outstanding Canadian women was given by Mrs. G. Murphy at the meeting of the Loyal Group of Metropolitan United Church Women's Auxiliary, held at the home of Mrs. W. E. Harper, Pentrevel Place. Mrs. J. T. Taylor presided and Mrs. J. H. Carefoot took the devotional. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Boyle and Mrs. H. P. Gibson. Mrs. Arnott poured tea. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. E. B. Jones, Foul Bay Road.

will be accompanied by Miss Jan McColl, also a university student, who will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McColl of Toronto, who are at present staying at Dorchester Apartments.

Guests from Vancouver attending the marriage of Miss Thelma Lillian Colbert and Mr. Gordon Doyle McMorris Tuesday afternoon included Mrs. Violet Smith, Mrs. A. Spelling and Mrs. A. D. Johnston. Also from the mainland, was Mr. Peter Clelland, of New Westminster.

Of interest up-island was the christening service Sunday at Victoria Truth Centre, when the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Paterson, Lake Cowichan, deceived the names of Donald Hamilton. Rev. E. M. Smiley officiated. Following the service, a christening tea was held at the home of the babe's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Paterson, Bridge Street.

Mrs. Violet Goodwin, now living in Vancouver has recently received a letter of thanks from Princess Elizabeth, for a hand-knit baby shawl sent as a gift for the Royal baby. Mrs. Goodwin will be remembered in Victoria as the former Miss Violet Ross, daughter of Mr. Adam Ross, Granville Road, and the late Mrs. Ross. ## Reeve Pettit Smooths Tempers With Cookies

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Ann Shipley has been reeve of Teck Township in northern Ontario longer than Mrs. Mary Pettit has held the reeve-ship of Nelson township, which includes this Hamilton district town.

But Reeve Pettit says she goes Reeve Shipley one better in keeping tempers smoothed at council meetings. She puts apples, candy or cookies on the council table and passes them in moments of crisis.

Sometimes, on winter days, Reeve Pettit, in office since 1945, serves tea to the council. "And can you picture Reeve Shipley, up north in the gold-mining community of Kirkland Lake, serving tea and cookies at a council meeting?" she says.

When buying a piece of furniture, beware of shoddy workmanship. Shoddy work is indicated, for one thing, in a piece of furniture with glass doors, in which the door is made of a single pane with wooden, jagged pattern superimposed on the outside to imitate a wooden grille. Examine the inside of the door. If genuine mahogany or other fine wood, most likely each section of glass is an individual pane, held in place by carefully joined sections of wood.

Young Eskimo Girl Takes Nun's Vows

ROUYN, Que. (CP)—Out of the north country comes the story of Pelagie Inuk, the slight girl who became the first Eskimo nun, and the awe with which her tribespeople watched Pelagie take her initial vows.

"Chesterfield Inlet never saw anything such as this ceremony," said Most Rev. Leo. Deschatelets, Canadian-born superior general of the oblate order who officiated and later told the story in Rouyn.

The summer Eskimo colony at Chesterfield Inlet turned out in force. To the last baby, borne in a sling on its mother's back, the Eskimos watched intently throughout a day-long ceremonial under a scorching August sun. They were hot and uncomfortable in their Sunday best, the men in woolen suits and caribou boots, the women in brightly-colored, beaded finery.

Amid this setting in the bleak Arctic, Pelagie Inuk accepted the habit of the order of grey nuns of charity of Montreal.

Honeymoon At Harrison Resort

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. McMorris—Photo by Joncas.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Doyle McMorris left Tuesday for the mainland where they will spend their honeymoon at Harrison Hot Springs.

The newlyweds, the former Miss Thelma Lillian Colbert, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Colbert, and groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. McMorris, Lewvan, Sask., exchanged wedding vows Tuesday afternoon at St. Matthias' Anglican Church. Huge white and yellow chrysanthemums formed the church decor.

Mr. Colbert gave his daughter in marriage in the ceremony conducted by Rev. K. L. Sandercock. During the signing of the register, Mrs. D. McLennan sang "O Perfect Love."

Princess line slenderness was the motif for the white velvet bridal gown styled with sweet-heart neckline and lily point sleeves. A vertical row of tiny buttons leading to a bustle bow fashioned with skirt fullness, added back distinction. A simple coronet of the same velvet held the bride's embroidered veil which misted to the end of her gown, slightly en train. White carnations and full blown pink roses composed her crescent bouquet.

An old-fashioned nosegay of similar blossoms, carried by Miss Lorna Joyce Colbert, sole attendant for her sister, set the theme for her poudre blue velvet gown, period mode. She wore a coronet of matching velvet in her hair. Floyd Gieg waited at the chancel, as best man.

Friends gathered at the Colbert home, following the ceremony, where the bride and Mrs. Colbert stood in the receiving line.

Tall white candles in silver holders lighted the bride's table, where the three-tier cake, encircled with tulle and rose petals, was centred. Peter Clelland of New Westminster proposed the toast to the bride. Later many telegrams of congratulations were read.

The bride, a graduate of Women's College Hospital in Toronto, chose a three-piece ensemble in cherry red for traveling. Her grey accessories matched the grey squirrel trim on her topcoat and her corsage bouquet was of gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. McMorris will return to the city until Spring, when they will leave for Lewvan to make their home.

For a good-tasting quick coffee cake, measure out 2 cups of prepared biscuit mix and combine with 3 tablespoons sugar and ½ teaspoon nutmeg. Add liquid as directed on the package and pat out dough in a pie tin to 1-inch thickness. Then top it with well-drained canned cling peach slices and dot with butter, brown sugar and cinnamon. Bake as usual in a hot oven.

Saanich Council Vote Kills Move For Public Ballot On Abolition Of Wards

Voters of Saanich will not have an opportunity to state whether they favor abolition of the ward system in the Dec. 18 elections.

Move by Councillor Leslie Passmore to have a referendum put to the people on the question, also that only six council members be elected, was defeated by a 4 to 3 vote at Tuesday night's meeting of the Saanich Council.

"It's the most democratic way of finding out how people feel about such an important question," said the councillor in presenting the motion. Supporting him were Councillors G. Rudd and T. Alexander. Opposing were Reeve E. C. Warren, and Councillors E. P. Cummins, W. C. Kersey and K. R. Genn. Councillor J. L. Hobbs, Ward 3, was absent owing to be hospitalized for sickness. Council wished him speedy recovery.

Mr. Cummins rose to his feet and with considerable heat in his voice charged that he was "deliberately sabotaged" at the meeting of his Ward 4 ratepayers on Nov. 15 by Mr. Passmore, Ward 7, and Alexander Kilpatrick, ratepayers secretary-treasurer. The latter is one of his opponents in the forthcoming election. Although present, he was not permitted to speak.

"That meeting was stacked," Mr. Cummins added, pointing out that Mr. Passmore had instructed the meeting to instruct himself (Cummins) to support abolition.

PASSMORE REPLIES

Mr. Passmore, however, a smile on his face, claimed that actually what he had told the ratepayers was it was up to ratepayers to tell their council representatives what to do, not for the councillor to tell them.

The Ward 7 councillor said people present expressed themselves for and against abolition, but supported a referendum on the matter unanimously.

Reeve Warren said he was frankly against wiping out the ward system. The present system was best for Saanich and he said that he did not care if this stand meant he would lose or win votes.

Mr. Cummins, supported by Mr. Genn, saw such a municipality wide vote as unfair as the voice of the rural areas would be drowned out by the heavier-populated urban areas.

Before the vote was taken, John B. Tribe, municipal clerk, advised the council that should the voters support abolition the council would have to rescind its former motion to retain the ward setup. However, on the matter of reducing council seats to six and a reeve it would require a money by-law.

Pass First Move To Let People Vote On Airpark

First reading was given Tuesday night to a referendum by-law that is to be presented to Saanich voters on Dec. 18 asking if they favor an airpark being erected for light aircraft on the 57 acres of Gordon Head property.

It was passed by the majority vote of 4 to 3. Councillor J. L. Hobbs, anti-airpark member, was not present to cast his ballot.

Reeve E. C. Warren considered an overall vote in the municipality was definitely contrary to the provisions of the Town Planning Act. He figured the vote should be confined to ratepayers in the particular zone concerned. The reeve declared the zoning by-law has been definitely contravened.

Defeated was a motion from Ward 3 Saanich Ratepayers' Association. This asked the council to notify the City of Victoria, the Memorial Air Park Association and the Department of Transport, that it intends to enforce regulations under the Zoning By-law to prohibit construction of airdromes and operation of aircraft on and from the property owned by the city known as Lot "A" at Gordon Head.

Councillor E. P. Cummins moved that this be done. It was killed by the same quartette which passed the first reading.

Mr. Passmore told the meeting that the idea behind the referendum was to get the feelings of people surrounding the area involved.

Meeting To Hear Pro And Con On Airpark

Councillor W. C. Kersey, Ward 6, invited members of the Saanich council at last night's meeting to attend an open hearing on the Gordon Head airpark question in the C.C.F. Hall, Richmond Avenue and Cedar Hill Crossroad, on the night of Dec. 1. Arguments would be heard pro and con, he said.

Rudd Criticized For Comment On Arena By Saanich Reeve

The 1949 Saanich Council was shouldered with the problem of whether it will contribute money toward completion of the memorial arena in Victoria.

After discussion on the matter at Tuesday night's meeting of the council, during which Councillor George Rudd charged the project had been mismanaged, Councillor T. F. Alexander was supported in his motion to have the question left for the new council.

A letter from F. M. Hunter, city clerk, asking for financial aid from Saanich, started the discussion.

"I am absolutely opposed to helping them to pay for it," said Mr. Rudd. "We were never consulted in the matter of location, and we have no part in the ownership. It is strictly the city's baby," he added.

Mr. Rudd was the target of criticism from Reeve E. C. Warren when he referred to the arena project as being "badly mismanaged."

"It is not proper for a member of this council to say the project was mismanaged," said Reeve

Warren, especially when the council did not have facts and figures on which to base such statements.

Councillor E. P. Cummins said a few weeks ago he heard the mayor ridicule the arena program. Councillor said he was strongly opposed to Saanich money going into it.

Councillor I. Passmore, however, said he was in favor of Saanich paying something.

"I'm certainly going to use it and it will be a fine thing for the whole district," Mr. Passmore said. He repeated his earlier statement that if Saanich did not give a helping hand, he would not be surprised if city residents got first choice on arena attractions, Saanich residents getting second choice.

Reeve Warren said that before Saanich could turn over any money to another municipality authority would have to be secured from the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. He warned, too, that if Saanich Council took such a step to provide funds and wound up with a deficit as a result "all of us would be personally liable."

13,000 Saanich Ratepayers

Saanich has really grown up. Councillor Thomas F. Alexander, Ward 1, told the meeting of the council Tuesday night that after work had been completed by the Court of Revision on the voters' list last week, it was learned that Saanich ratepayer population now totals 13,000.

Saanich population today is about 26,000. "It's a remarkable growth and if it continues for the next few years we will have more property owners than the city," the councillor said.

Bulb, Fur Farmers Oppose Trade Fee Planned In Saanich

Opposition to the fur farmers and members of the B.C. Bulb Growers' Federation in Saanich was heard at Tuesday night's meeting of the council on being included among those to be levied a fee under the Trade License By-law, 1948, in the municipality.

After hearing their arguments, council refrained from passing first reading on the by-law. It was decided to call a special meeting before long to deal specifically with the by-law.

By-law is designed to bring in a lot more revenue to the municipality which Saanich has a right to collect according to provisions in the Municipal Act. Farmers who produce food on the land are exempt.

B. H. Lamont, G. H. Petrick and F. P. Patt spoke on behalf of the fur farmers.

Mr. Lamont was principal speaker, saw the new tax, levied each six months, as a deterrent to enterprise, one which would be a crippling blow for those who wished to start out as no revenue was realized for the first three years. He referred to it as a "nuisance tax."

Councillor W. C. Kersey, Ward 6, saw the levy working a hardship on newcomers in the field.

Charles Wilson led off for the bulb growers, noting that it was the bulb men who were making Saanich the "Garden of Vancouver Island." The bulb displays were the show window of Saanich, he said. In view of this, Mr. Wilson humorously remarked that growers of the bulbs should receive a bonus rather than be taxed. It was big industry in the developing, he said.

E. Neilson said there were 60 or 70 members of the federation in Saanich, declared that the license fee would kill the ambitions of the new ones in the field. There were not more than 10 growers in the municipality making a livelihood solely from bulbs, he said.

Mr. Neilson told of Saanich bulb products now being imported to the United States, urging the council not to put taxes in the way to stop others from entering this farming.

U.S. Reports First Decline In Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first decline in living costs in the United States in seven months was announced Tuesday by the government.

The announcement, made by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, came a few hours after President Truman had named Dr. Edwin Nourse, chairman of his Economic Advisory Council, to work out anti-inflation program for presentation to Congress early next year.

The cost-of-living decline was slight—one-half of 1 per cent—but it broke a steady climb through most of the late spring and summer.

Minimum Sentence On Traffic Charge

The minimum sentence of seven days in jail was imposed by Judge C. J. Lennox in County Court Tuesday upon Mrs. Laura Mitchell, Newport Avenue, who was found guilty of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Stating that he disliked sending a woman to jail, the judge said that his "hands were tied" and he was obliged to sentence her to imprisonment. The seven-day sentence, he added, was the minimum.

In finding Mrs. Mitchell guilty, the judge reversed a decision of Magistrate H. C. Hall who dismissed the charge against the accused in Saanich Police Court recently. The Crown appealed the case in County Court.

The charge against the accused arose following an accident on Cordova Bay Road, Sept. 12 last. Driver of other car was injured.

Conference To Study Future Of Service Providing Farm Help

The future of the Dominion Provincial Farm Labor Service, organized during the war to assist farmers in harvesting their crops, will be discussed in Ottawa next week by a representative of the provincial government.

Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam, announcing that William MacGillivray, provincial director of the service, would attend a Dominion-provincial conference on the scheme, indicated today that steps may be taken to make the service a permanent organization.

He said producer organizations had made strong representations asking that the service be continued. He added that the highly perishable nature of many agricultural products of B.C. made it apparent that there should be some such organization to help farmers obtain labor to harvest their crops.

Despite the reduced demands in the flooded areas of the Fraser Valley the service during the past season placed more help than during 1947, the minister said. The service has also facilitated the placement of many displaced persons from Europe and farmers were satisfied with the service given by the D.P.'s, he said.

Won't Pay Share

Saanich Council decided at its meeting last night to stand by the decision of its solicitor that the municipality had no legal obligation to pay a portion of the hospital bill of a wounded gunman apprehended after a series of robberies late last year.

Nick Clark, Vancouver, was captured in a gun-shooting finish after he had robbed McGill and Orme's Scollard Building dispensary, commandeered the Esquimalt police wagon and robbed the Gorge Pharmacy in Saanich of a quantity of drugs. He was hospitalized for his wounds and St. Joseph's Hospital through counsel, is seeking a Saanich contribution to defray the costs.

Dec. 8 Nomination Deadline In Saanich

Nomination papers for candidates in the coming Saanich elections must be filed by 2 on the afternoon of Dec. 9, council members were advised at the meeting last night. Papers can be filed before that time, but not later. Election day is Dec. 18.

John B. Tribe, municipal clerk, was named returning officer. Polling stations will be the same as last year.

Special Meeting

PARIS (AP)—United Nations officials are planning definitely on a special session of the Assembly in New York early next year, probably in February.

A source close to Secretary-General Trygve Lie said Tuesday night Lie and his aides had given up hope the current Assembly can finish the mass of work remaining to be done before Dec. 11, the target date for adjournment.

They hope the Assembly can finish work on Palestine, but doubt that more than a start can be made on such major items as Korea, the future of Italy's pre-

Government Units Clear 4,500 Acres

British Columbia's land clearing program, using 19 crawler-type tractors, cleared 4,500 acres of land during the summer of this year, Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam reported today.

Operations of the six outfits were held up considerably by the long damp summer which reduced the total acreage.

Mr. Putnam said it was evident that there will be a demand for the clearing service for many years to come. He indicated that inquiries from areas where operations had not yet been undertaken were numerous.

On Vancouver Island one unit worked in the Cowichan-Lady Smith-Nanaimo areas. The remainder were operated on the mainland.

CRUSADE IN EUROPE

Colossal Problem Of Supplying Advancing Troops Forces Cuts

Installment 18

By the end of August the approximate strength of the Allied forces on the Continent was twenty American divisions, twelve British divisions, three Canadian divisions, one French, and one Polish division. There were no more British divisions available, but in the United Kingdom were an additional six American divisions, including three airborne.

The operational strength of all available air forces was approximately 4,035 heavy bombers, 1,720 light, medium, and torpedo bombers, and 5,000 fighters. Added to all this was the Troop Transport Command, which, counting both American and British formations, numbered more than 2,000 transport planes.

Against a defeated and demoralized enemy almost any reasonable risk is justified and the success attained by the victor will ordinarily be measured in the boldness, almost foolhardiness, of his movements. The whole purpose of the costly break-through and the whirlwind attacks of the succeeding three weeks was to produce just such a situation as now confronted us; we had been preparing our plans so as to reap the richest harvest from the initial success. But the difficulties of supply, once our columns began their forward race, was a problem that required effective solution if we were to gain our full battle profit.

Our logistic formations had been confined in a very restricted area during the entire Battle of the Beachhead. The only operating ports were Cherbourg and the artificial port on the British beaches near Arromanches.

The repair of Cherbourg had presented many difficulties. The harbor and approaches had to be cleared of hundreds of mines, many of them of new and particularly efficient types. We began using the port in July, but it did not reach volume production until the middle of August. The artificial port on the American beaches had been demolished in the June storm.

Supply Lines Stretched To Limit

These meager facilities could not support us indefinitely and there was bound to be a line somewhere in the direction of Germany where we would be halted, if not by the action of the enemy, then because our supply lines had been strained to their elastic limit.

A reinforced division, in active operations, consumes from 600 to 700 tons of supplies per day. When battling in a fixed position, most of this tonnage is represented in ammunition; on the march the bulk is devoted to gasoline and lubricants, called, in the language of the supply officer, POL.

With thirty-six divisions in action we were faced with the problem of delivering from beaches and ports to the front lines some 20,000 tons of supplies every day. Our spearheads, moreover, were moving swiftly, frequently 75 miles per day. The supply service had to catch these with loaded trucks.

All units were certainly going to be short of supply. The task was to allot deficits so as to avoid stopping troops before they had accomplished their main objectives, and this in turn meant that no formation could get one pound of supply over and above that needed for basic missions.

When action is proceeding as rapidly as it did across France during the hectic days of late August and early September every commander from division upward becomes obsessed with the idea that with only a few more tons of supply he could rush right on and win the war. This is the spirit that wins wars and is always to be encouraged. Initiative, confidence, and boldness are among the most admirable traits of the good combat leader.

Thrust Into Germany Branded Fantastic

In the late summer days of 1944 it was known to us that the German still had disposable reserves within his own country. Any idea of attempting to thrust forward a small force, bridge the Rhine, and continue on into the heart of Germany was completely fantastic. Even had such a force been able to start with a total of ten or a dozen divisions—and it is certain no more could have been supported even temporarily—the attacking column would have gradually grown smaller as it dropped off units to protect its flanks and would have ended up facing inescapable defeat. Such an attempt would have played into the hands of the enemy.

by Dwight D. Eisenhower

This is a condensed serialization of Dwight D. Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe." It contains highlights of the book to be published November 22, 1948, by Doubleday & Company. Copyrighted by Doubleday & Company, Inc.

AS PARIS HONORED "IKE"—Here is a general view of ceremonies at the famed Arc de Triomphe as Paris paid homage to General Eisenhower on June 14, 1944. The city turned out to give the general a roaring welcome.

The American VII and XIX Corps advanced so rapidly that in the vicinity of Mons, location of one of the great battles of the First World War, they trapped between them an entire German corps. After a fierce engagement 25,000 prisoners were taken. In ordinary times this would have been acclaimed as a great victory. But the times were far from ordinary and the incident passed almost unnoticed in the press.

A special problem that became acute toward the end of August was that of determining what to do about Paris. During all preliminary operations we had been at great pains to avoid direct bombing of the French capital. Even in the process of destroying French communications we had, in the Paris region, done this by attacking railway bottlenecks outside rather than terminals inside the city. Pursuing the same general purpose, we wanted to avoid making Paris a battleground and consequently planned operations to cut off and surround the vicinity, thus forcing the surrender of the defending garrison.

Rapid Support For Free French Forces

In this matter my hand was forced by the action of the Free French forces inside the city. Throughout France the Free French had been of inestimable value in the campaign. They were particularly active in Brittany, but on every portion of the front we secured help from them in a multitude of ways. Without their great assistance the liberation of France and the defeat of the enemy in western Europe would have consumed a much longer time and meant greater losses to ourselves. So when the Free French forces inside the city staged their uprising it was necessary to move rapidly to their support.

For the honor of first entry, General Bradley selected General LeClerc's French 2nd Division. The veterans of this organization had started at Lake Chad three years before, made an almost impossible march across the Sahara Desert, joined the 8th British Army to participate in the latter part of the African campaign, and now, on Aug. 25, 1944, its commander received the surrender from the German general commanding the Paris garrison. It was a satisfying climax to an odyssey which, in its entire length, carried all the way from central Africa to Berchtesgaden in Germany.

The liberation of Paris on Aug. 25 had a great impact on people everywhere. Even the doubters began to see the end of Hitler. By this time enemy losses were enormous. Since our landings three of the enemy's field marshals and one army commander had been dismissed from their posts or incapacitated by wounds. Rommel was badly wounded by one of our strafing planes on July 19. Some months later he committed suicide to escape trial for alleged complicity in the July 20 murder plot against Hitler.

German material losses included 1,300 tanks, 20,000 other vehicles, 500 assault guns, and 1,500 pieces of artillery. In addition the German air forces had suffered extensively. More than 3,500 of his aircraft had been destroyed and this in spite of the fact that the Luftwaffe had been seriously depleted before the invasion began.

All along the front we pressed forward in hot pursuit of the fleeing enemy. In four days the British spearheads, paralleled by equally forceful American advances on their right, covered a distance of 195 miles, one of the many fine feats of marching by our formations in the great pursuit across France.

The task on the north comprised three parts. We had to secure a line far enough to the eastward to cover Antwerp and the roads and railways leading out of it toward the front. We had to reduce the German defenses in the areas lying between that city and the sea. Finally, I hoped to thrust forward spearheads as far as we could, to include a bridgehead across the Rhine if possible, so as to threaten the Ruhr and facilitate subsequent offensives.

Montgomery's Plan To End War Quickly

While we were examining the various factors of the question, Montgomery suddenly presented the proposition that, if we would support his 21st Army Group with all supply facilities available, he could rush right on into Berlin and, he said, end the war. I am certain that Field Marshal Montgomery, in the light of later events, would agree that this view was a mistaken one.

During early September, while returning from a visit to the forward areas, I suffered a minor injury incident to a forced landing on a beach. Caught in a sudden storm, we found it impossible to return to our own little landing strip near headquarters and had no place to land except on a neighboring beach. It was one of the beaches

Railway engineers worked night and day to repair broken bridges and track and to restore the operational efficiency of rolling stock. Gasoline and fuel oil were brought onto the Continent by means of flexible pipe lines laid under the English Channel. From the beaches the gas and oil were pumped forward to main distribution points through pipe lines laid on the surface of the ground.

In the months succeeding the conclusion of hostilities I had many opportunities to review various campaigns with the leaders of the Russian Army. Not only did I talk to marshals and generals but on this subject I spent a considerable time with Generalissimo Stalin. Without exception, these Russian officers made one pressing demand upon me. It was to explain the supply arrangements that enabled us to make the great sweep out of our restricted beachhead in Normandy to cover, in one rush, all of France, Belgium, and Luxembourg, up to the very borders of Germany. I had to describe to them our systems of railway repairs and construction, truckage, evacuation, and supply by air.

They suggested that of all the spectacular feats of the war, even including their own, the Allied success in the supply of the pursuit across France would go down in history as the most astonishing.

On our right we connected up near Dijon with Patch's advancing forces on Sept. 11, just 27 days after the landing in southern France. From that moment onward the only thing standing in the way of the ample supply of all our forces south of Metz was the repair of the railways leading up the Rhine Valley.

Bad Weather Ruins 'Drop' Into Arnhem

On the extreme left the attack against Arnhem went off as planned on Sept. 17. Three airborne divisions dropped, in column, from north to south. The northernmost one was the British 1st Airborne Division, while farther southward were the American 82nd and 101st Airborne Divisions. The attack began well and unquestionably would have been successful except for the intervention of bad weather.

This prevented the adequate reinforcement of the northern spearhead and resulted finally in the decimation of the British airborne division and only a partial success in the entire operation. We did not get our bridgehead but our lines had been carried well out to defend the Antwerp base.

During the three months beginning Sept. 1, I spent a great portion of my time in travel. The front was constantly broadening and distances were getting greater, so that every visit was time-consuming. Nevertheless, that the Germans had fortified before D-day, and had at one time been mined.

This did not add to the comfort of our position but we tried to pull the plane far enough away from the water's edge to prevent its inundation by the rising tide. In doing so, I badly wrenched a knee. My pilot, Lieut. Underwood, helped me across the beach while I kept an anxious eye on the smooth sand in front of us for any telltale signs of buried explosives. We reached a country road and started the long trek toward headquarters.

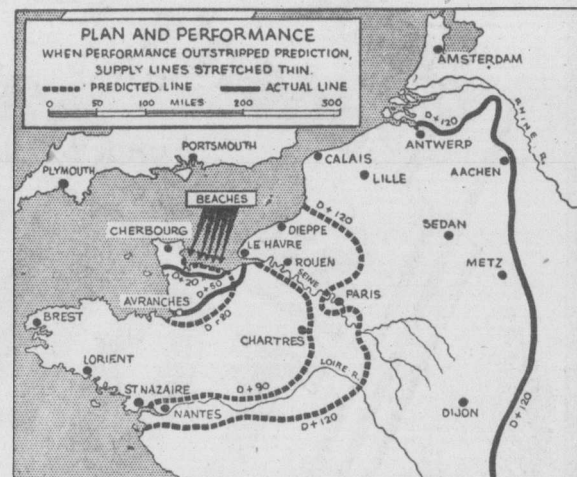

It was a miserable walk through a driving rain, but we had little hope of thumbing a ride because the back road we were traveling was rarely used by our soldiers. However, within a few minutes there came up behind us a jeep into which eight soldiers had managed to crowd.

We flagged them down and the occupants, instantly recognizing me, jumped out to help. They were obviously astounded to see the commanding general in such an out-of-the-way place and limping along in the rain. I asked them to take me to headquarters and so great was their concern that they practically lifted me into the front seat of the jeep. Then, careful to avoid crowding against my injured leg, they allowed no one else except the driver to sit in front. I still do not understand how all the rest of them piled in and on the jeep and managed to get my pilot aboard, but this they did.

For two days I was confined to bed and thereafter was forced, for a time, to carry a plaster cast on my leg. Press representatives noted my absence from headquarters and surmised that I was ill, possibly because of overwork. When a story to this effect appeared in the press I had to publish the details of the affair, with the hope that my wife would not magnify the seriousness of the accident pending receipt of my letter of explanation.

Trucks Run 20 Hours Daily On 'Red Ball'

All along the front we felt increasingly the strangulation on movement imposed by our inadequate lines of communication. The services of supply had made heroic and effective effort to keep us going to the last possible minute. They installed systems of truck transport by taking over main-road routes in France and using most of these for one-way traffic. These were called Red Ball Highways, on which trucks kept running continuously. Every vehicle ran at least 20 hours a day.

they were valuable and always worth the cost in time and effort.

On one trip during the autumn I stopped briefly in a forward location to talk with several hundred men. We were all standing on a muddy, slippery hillside. After a few minutes' visit I turned to go and fell flat on my back. From the shout of laughter that went up I am quite sure that no other meeting I had with soldiers during the war was a greater success than that one. Even the men who rushed forward to help pick me out of the mire could scarcely do so for laughing.

Loneliness Of Forward Areas

There is an old expression, "the nakedness of the battlefield." It is descriptive and full of meaning for any one who has seen a battle. Except for unusual concentration of tactical activity, such as at a river crossing or an amphibious assault, the feeling that pervades the forward areas is loneliness. There is little to be seen; friend and foe, as well as the engines of war, seem to disappear from sight when troops are deployed for a fight. Loss of control and cohesion are easy, because each man feels himself so much alone, and each is prey to the human fear and terror that to move or show himself may result in instant death. Here is where confidence in leaders, a feeling of comradeship with and trust in them, pays off.

Morale of the combat troops had always to be carefully watched. The capacity of soldiers for absorbing punishment and enduring privations is almost inexhaustible so long as they believe they are getting a square deal, that their commanders are looking out for them, and that their own accomplishments are understood and appreciated.

Once, in Africa, front-line troops complained to me that they could get no chocolate bars or anything to smoke, when they knew that these were plentifully issued to the services of supply. I queried the local unit commander, who said he had requisitioned these things time and again, only to be told that no transport was available to bring them to the front.

I merely telephoned to the rear and directed that until every forward airfield and front-line unit was getting its share of these items, there would not be another piece of candy or cigarette or cigar issued to any one in the supply services. In a surprisingly short time I received a happy report from the front that their requisitions were being promptly filled.

In the late summer and autumn months of 1944, the Allied armies were fighting their way blithely up to the Rhine. Their number had grown to 46 divisions; the capture of the port of Antwerp had become a prime necessity if they were to be supplied adequately for the final assault on Hitler's Germany.

General Eisenhower in the next installment of "Crusade in Europe," which will be published here tomorrow in the Victoria Times, describes this phase of the campaign in Europe. This was the prelude to the Battle of the Bulge, and here for the first time is the explanation of the Allied commander-in-chief of the chance which was given to the Nazis to fight their last offensive battle of the war.

N.L.R.B. Orders Boeing Strike Talks Resumed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board Tuesday ordered the Boeing Airplane Co., Seattle, to resume collective bargaining with the International Association of Machinists and to reinstate all employees who struck in April.

The board ruled that Boeing violated the Taft-Hartley Act by refusing to bargain with the I.A.M., an independent union, after the strike began April 22, 1948.

About 14,000 Boeing workers joined in the strike. A great many of them have already been reinstated and the plant is back in production.

The union ended the five-month strike Sept. 13, while awaiting the outcome of the N.L.R.B. case.

Survey Under Way Of Hospital Needs In British Columbia

A survey of British Columbia's hospital needs being undertaken by James A. Hamilton and associates, Minneapolis, Minn., now is under way. Dr. J. M. Hershey, commissioner of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service, reported today.

A. D. Kincaid Jr., staff consultant for the firm, has arrived in Vancouver to serve as resident director for the survey.

Prior to his arrival a 42 page questionnaire was sent to all B.C. hospitals and one of the first tasks of the survey staff will be to summarize and correlate the vast amount of data and research findings which these reports will yield.

The survey questionnaire, which is divided into 10 schedules, deals with such questions as ownership, control and type of hospitals, organization, geographical distribution of patients and the hospital's plant facilities.

From the survey questionnaire data will be compiled regarding the number of patients treated both by medical and financial status. Tabulations on length of time patients remain in hospital and the extent to which each hospital's facilities are occupied during the year will also be made.

Detailed information about hospital personnel, which will prove a factor in training and development of an educational program for the province, is also being gathered.

Supplementary to the questionnaire a field staff will visit the hospitals to make a detailed study of each hospital's plant facilities.

From time to time other members of James A. Hamilton and associates, together with specialists in various fields, will be called in for expert advice.

The City Hall unit will operate Thursday and Friday from 9.30 to 11.30 in the mornings, and from 1.30 to 4 in the afternoons.

The mobile unit, now stationed at the Oak Bay Health Centre, in the old Oak Bay High School, will operate Thursday afternoon from 1 until 3, and in the evening from 7 to 9. It will operate Friday morning from 10 until noon. No charge is made for this service.

Discuss Merger Of Pensioners' Groups

A plan to merge the Old Age Pensioners' Organization, Branch 5, and the Victoria Aged Pensioners' Association was discussed at a meeting Tuesday night of the Senior Citizens' Campaign Council.

A committee was appointed to meet the City Council in an effort to bring about the union.

The aldermanic board has already discussed the proposal. Last Monday it debated at length whether or not it should grant the local branch of the Pensioners' Organization a tag day and not the other pensioners' group.

The branch is anxious to have a tag day before Christmas but does not want the Pensioners' Association involved.

The association, a spokesman for the rival group told the City Council, operates as a social club and divides what money it has among its members. His group, he said, uses money it raises to help senior citizens in need, such as shut-ins and invalids.

Another committee of the Campaign Council was named at the meeting to interview Provincial Health Minister George Pearson to discuss exemption of specific individuals in low income brackets from hospital insurance, premium payments.

A report was presented by the committee in charge of the recent Senior Citizens' Week. The meeting decided, in view of the success of this year's week, to have a similar project next year.

The Victoria Guild of Variety Artists, it was reported at the meeting, is planning to stage a program of entertainment for the public prior to Christmas to raise funds for old age pensioners.

Preliminary hearing before Magistrate H. C. Hall was elected by Caram Chand, Hindu, when he appeared in city police court today on a charge of assaulting a woman and occasioning her actual bodily harm. J. B. Clearhue, K.C., appeared as accused's counsel. Case was remanded to Nov. 30 for the hearing.

Management License Applications Rise To 115 But Only 1 Approved

Only one forest management license has been granted by the British Columbia government to date although legislation to provide for these licenses now has been on the statute books for more than 18 months.

A check made today, however, showed that to date there have been about 115 inquiries received by the B.C. Forest Service from timber and pulp mill companies seeking forest management licenses. Officials of the service feel that about 50 per cent of these may eventually result in the granting of management licenses.

The only license signed, sealed and delivered today is that for Columbia Celulose Co. Ltd., a subsidiary of the Celanese Corporation of America, for a big tract of timber to supply the company's proposed plant on Watson Island, near Prince Rupert. Construction of the plant which will supply high grade pulp for synthetic yarns is under way.

The cabinet has also given approval in principle for two other forest management licenses. They are for pulp mills which the Canadian Western Timber Co. Ltd. propose to erect at Duncan Bay, near Campbell River, and which Western Plywoods Ltd. is projecting for near Quesnel.

About a score of the applications to date have proceeded along the long process toward approval to the advertising stage. Currently there are eight such applications now being advertised.

The law requires that the applications for licenses be advertised for 30 days, following which there is a resting period during which other firms and individuals which may be involved may make representations to the government.

To date no farmers of B.C. have availed themselves of the provision, written into the Forest Act at the regular spring session of the legislature, which permits them to take out forest management licenses for woodlots to be operated in conjunction with their farming operations. There have been several inquiries concerning farm woodlots, however.

Family Allowance Payments Indicate Population Growth

Continued increase in British Columbia's population was indicated in the November report issued Tuesday by W. R. Bone, regional director of Family Allowances.

It was revealed that during the current month, 759 families in receipt of the allowances, came to this province from some other part of the Dominion, while 335 families left for eastern points.

"Following the trend of several months Saskatchewan families led the list of newcomers with 238," Mr. Bone said. "During the same period 65 families left for Saskatchewan. Alberta was in second place with 216 incoming and 136 leaving, while Manitoba sent 133 families and received 37."

Mr. Bone said the family allowance payments during November amounted to $1,625,920, which was paid on behalf of 274,054 children in 145,009 families.

Royal Oak School entertained parents in bringing to a close Educational Week plans.

Crown Completes Case In Rape Trial

Following the hearing of police evidence, the Crown completed its case today at the trial for rape of Jack Hensen, 17-year-old youth.

While under cross examination, Mrs. L. Barera identified her suit which she described as not in the same condition as she had turned into police. The label was missing and there was a hole in the coat, she said.

"Somebody will have to buy me a new one," she said.

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane warned the witness several times against passing remarks not connected with the questions asked.

Witnesses who testified at this morning's hearing included Detective Morris Wilkinson, John Lund and R. Rudge; Constables Alex Nichol and I. H. Grommers.

W. H. M. Haldane is counsel for the Crown. George Gregory is representing the accused.

Park Area Reserved

Province To Replace 2 Temporary Bridges On West Coast Road

Two of several bridges on the West Coast Road between Sooke and Jordan River will be replaced with permanent steel and concrete structures within the next three or four months, the provincial works department reported today.

For some time the residents of Sooke and Jordan River have been making representations to the provincial works department seeking the replacement of the bridges.

Now the works department has called for tenders for the building of the substructures of the Muir Creek and Tugwell Creek bridges. The tenders must be in the hands of Works Minister E. C. Carson by noon, Dec. 6, at which time they will be opened.

Work on the substructures is expected to be started shortly following the opening of the tenders and the awarding of the contracts.

Both structures will be permanent bridges of steel and concrete. The Muir Creek bridge will have two 60-foot spans, while the Tugwell Creek bridge will have one 60-foot span. Both spans are described as steel beam bridges.

Steel for the structures is available. Some time ago the provincial works department placed orders with the Dominion Bridge Co. Ltd. for the beams and other steel to go into the structures.

For some time now traffic between the two west coast communities has been carried on temporary structures. Officials of the department estimated that the new structures should be completed in three to four months.

Fines amounting to $75 were imposed against George Slimko Colleen by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to three counts of charging rents in excess of ceiling set under the Wartime Leasehold regulations.

The charges dealt with three apartments at 936 and 940 Queens Avenue. David Sloan appeared for the Crown. Where rents had been fixed at $52.50, $57.50 and $60 a month, charges $55, $65 and $65, respectively, had been made, he said.

Special Mile Race On Invitation Track Card

CLIFF SALMOND

JACK HUTCHINS

One of the features of the Y.M.C.A. invitational western indoor track and field championships at the Armories Saturday night at 8 will be a special match race over the one-mile distance.

Cliff Salmond, coach Bruce Humber's long-legged star from the Y.M.C.A., will match strides with Jack Hutchins of Vancouver, his teammate on the Olympic squad, and Ez Henniger of the University of British Columbia. Henniger, though not as well-known here as Salmond and Hutchins, also represented the Dominion at London this past summer.

Salmond's best distance is two miles at which he holds the Canadian record. Hutchins is the dean of Canada's half-milers and rated one of the coming track greats of the Dominion. The mile race should give each runner an even chance.

Henniger, who ran second to Salmond in a cross-country race at the recent U.B.C. cross-country, has been training diligently this season and may be in better shape than either Salmond or Hutchins. The U.B.C. lad may just have enough to take it all from his more famous track rivals.

Complete program for the meet will be announced later in the week, Humber said today.

Spath Kept Under Wraps As Stamps Hold Workout

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—More than 200 persons, including groups of pop-eyed schoolboys and a few suspected Ottawa Roughriders' spies watched Calgary Stampers whip through a 90-minute all-out scrimmage late Tuesday.

Crowds converged on the field at Appleby College to get a close look at the western champions who meet Riders Saturday. Coach Les Lear showed them practically everything except quarterback Keith Spath's forward passing arm and the big import's booting.

Spath tossed a few short ones and only two to Woody Stroud, six-foot-five-inch negro lineman who has been on the receiving end most of the season. There were line smashes and end runs and the spectators were impressed by Paul Rowe who cracked through the line. One expert said he was as good, if not better than Ottawa's Tony Golab in his charges.

BACKS IMPRESS

Norm Kwong, only Chinese on the club and credited with lots of stamina by Lear, showed a burst of speed and a deceptive change of pace. Kwong, only 19, is believed the youngest player ever to play in a Dominion rugby final. He wears contact lenses—a rarity in football. Fritz Hanson, 36-year-old veteran of the club, broke into the clear two or three times and easily outpaced opposing backs.

"That boy can still dangle," Lear commented after the workout, which continued until darkness.

There was one casualty of the day—outside Dave Berry suffered a slight ankle injury. He hobbled after the workout but he will play Saturday.

"You would have to amputate that guy's legs to keep him out of a ball game," said trainers Frank Porteous and Bill Hughes. "He'll be in there against Ottawa."

Lear announced another scrimmage for today. He had planned only light workouts for the remainder of the week, but figured it wouldn't do any harm for one more heavy daily session.

He isn't worried about Riders stealing some of his plays. "If they had anybody out there who would figure out plays, more power to them, but I doubt very much they learned anything."

"Our plays were going so fast, it would be almost impossible to catch them."

Rockets Put Stop To Royals Winning Streak

The Oakland Oaks hold a one-point edge today in the southern division of the Pacific Coast Hockey League race over the San Francisco Shamrocks by virtue of a 7 to 1 pasting of the Los Angeles Monarchs.

In the northern division, the first place race between the leading New Westminster Royals and the Tacoma Rockets was narrowed to two points when the Rockets stopped the Royals 4 to 3 on the Canadian ice. The Rockets did it the hard way, coming from behind a 3 to 0 deficit to tie the score and winning in an overtime period.

The defeat for the Royals cut their winning streak at 11 games, one short of a new league record.

In Vancouver, the Canucks lengthened their one-point hold on third place by defeating the Seattle Ironmen 4 to 3 in a game marked by only one penalty.

Scotty McPherson caged the winning goal with but two minutes left to play.

The Portland Eagles dropped a 4 to 1 encounter to the Fresno Falcons. Captain Joey Peterson riddled in three goals, all on passes from Blink Bellinger, to lead the Falcons with a hat trick.

Rangers Take Over Table Tennis Lead

Nipping MacDonald's Electric, 19 to 17, Rangers moved into sole possession of first place in the senior table tennis loop Monday. In another tilt, Victoria Bottle Exchange moved into a second-place tie with the electricmen by dint of their 20 to 16 victory over Jokers.

Other games played saw Capitala trounce Arrows, 23 to 13, and Robinson's Grocery defeat San-san Flooring, 21 to 15.

Teams and scores follow:
Rangers: O. King 1, G. Clarke 3, J. Davidson 7, D. Southern 5, Doubles 2.
MacDonald Electric: Neal Craig 1, Nancy Craig 5, R. Rogers 4, W. Browne-Cave 6, Doubles 1.
Bottle Exchange: F. MacDonald 3, E. Walker 8, P. Tutthill 5, W. Harrison 2, Doubles 2.
Jokers: A. Wells 5, G. Corke 6, R. Surridge 9, B. Canova 2, Doubles 2.
Robinson's Grocery: W. Robinson 5, A. Miller 5, T. Harper 5, S. Singh 4, Doubles 2.
San-san Flooring: A. Taylor 6, J. Brandson 6, D. White 6, C. Ngai 7, Doubles 2.
Capitala: D. Crysdale 5, W. McGregor 5, V. Bruce 5, T. Lowe 5, Doubles 2.
Arrows: S. Wright 8, G. Mason 3, S. Ngai 7, B. Lyons 1, Doubles 2.

Canadian Grid Final To Be Battle Of All-Stars

Boxer Collapses Following Beating

BUFFALO (AP)—Billy Fox, 22-year-old boxer from Philadelphia, was unconscious in hospital early today after absorbing a terrific beating last night in Memorial Auditorium.

He apparently suffered a head injury, a physician said. The hospital said his condition was not critical.

After losing a 10-round split decision to Ted Lowry of New Bedford, Mass., Fox left the ring under his own power. In the dressing room, he suddenly complained of being ill and lapsed into unconsciousness.

Lowry weighed 176½ and Fox 169½.

Rumors; No Teams For Post-Season Football Bowl Games

NEW YORK (AP)—There were plenty of rumors but no action Tuesday on the job of finding teams for the major New Year's Day United States football bowl games.

The Rose Bowl is set with California, and Northwestern. Southern Methodist will be host in the Cotton Bowl. S.M.U.'s opponent has been picked but not yet announced.

Both the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans and the Orange Bowl at Miami are still empty.

A Miami report said Oregon, outvoted in its effort to land the Rose Bowl assignment, and Oklahoma, Big Seven champion, have the inside track for the Orange Bowl.

Sugar Bowl officials won't announce teams until Saturday night at the earliest.

These were the developments during the day on other bowl fronts:

Colorado A. and M. and unbeaten Occidental College of California signed to meet in the Raisin Bowl at Fresno, Calif.

Lafayette College of Pennsylvania turned down an invitation to play in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. The team wanted to go. The faculty committee said no.

Southern Georgia Junior College accepted a bid to the little Sugar Bowl game at Monroe, La., Dec. 11.

Art Metals Play K.V.'s Tonight

Fresh from their victory over Mount Talmie Monday night, Island Art Metals, of the senior B basketball circuit, will tackle the top-placed K.V.'s in the feature game of tonight's tripeheader at K.V.'s, averaging 50 points a game, have won all three contests to date and will be tough to beat, but the Art Metals appear to have finally found the right combination after losing their first three starts and could quite easily upset the orangeshirts.

Preliminaries will pit together Hepcats and Hotshots, long-time rivals in a junior girls' tilt at 6, while an hour later, Cec's U-Drive entry will tackle Wally Yeaman's Eaglettes.

Present Exhibition Retriever Trials

During the opening shoot of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association Sunday, an exhibition retriever trial will be staged by the Victoria Gun Dog Club. Trials will take place between 12.30 and 2.

Several members of the club have entered the competition, with both land and water retrieving to be displayed in addition to "hidden bird" tests.

Following the exhibition, a demonstration of obedience will be given by J. H. Green of View Royal with his black Labrador.

Win Exhibition Tilt

In an exhibition basketball game at St. Aidan's Hall, last night, Warriors eked out a 42 to 41 decision over Mount Talmie hoopers. Bob McConchey led the way for winners with 14 points, while Gerry Emery and Donn McGee were high for Mt. Talmie with 11 and 10, respectively.

Warriors dropped a 50 to 38 count to Spencers of the intermediate A loop in a recent exhibition.

PERFECT CRIB HAND

Playing at the home of J. C. Haggarty, 1318 Clover Ave. last night, Bob Coates came up with a perfect "29" hand in their friendly cribbage match.

By JACK MITCHELL
TORONTO (CP)—The stars will be out in force when Ottawa Roughriders meet Calgary Stampers for the Dominion football title at Toronto's Varsity Stadium Saturday.

The Riders placed six players on the 1948 eastern Canada all-star team, announced last night. Seven Calgary Stampers previously were voted positions on the western Canada league's dream team so that means a total of 13 all-stars may be on the field at once.

Football writers and coaches in eight cities, who selected the all-eastern squad for the Canadian Press, also chose a second team and awarded one more Roughrider — Quarterback Bob Paffrath — a berth on it.

For the first team, they practically chose the Big Four all-star team intact. The only change was to replace Paffrath with the Ontario Union's Frankie Filchok, ace playing coach of Hamilton Tigers. Besides the six positions awarded Ottawa, they picked four Montreal Alouettes and one Toronto Argonaut — Joe Krol.

GOLAB FIRST CHOICE

The only player drawing a unanimous nod was Tony Golab, Ottawa's line-smasher having one of his greatest of many great seasons. The 32-year-old halfback, who has scored six touchdowns in Ottawa's three playoff games, polled the full 396 points.

The other Riders voted first-team status were Howie (touch-down) Turner, snap Don Loney, outside Bert Haigh and two American linemen playing their first Canadian season — Eddie Michaels and John Wagoner.

Calgary can top this stellar array by one. The western champions all-stars are quarterback Keith Spath and fullback Paul Rowe, both unanimous choices, snap Chuck Anderson, linemen Bert Iannone, Johnny Aguirre and Dave Tomlinson and outside Woody Strode. Spath's ace pass-catcher, Spath, Anderson, Aguirre and Strode are U.S. imports.

Krol crashed the line-up for the fourth successive season even though Argos finally relinquished their crown.

SEVEN IMPORTS

In all, seven U.S. imports were picked for the first team — Wagner, Turner, Filchok, Michaels, Reese, Wagoner and Trawick.

Paffrath was the only American to catch a place on the second team. The selectors chose five from the University of Western Ontario, two each from University of Toronto and Hamilton Tigers, and one each from Argos and Toronto Beavers Indians.

TO TRADE PUNCHES FRIDAY

Riders: Herb Trawick, Alouettes; Ralph Toohey, Alouettes; Bert Haigh, Riders.

To Trade Punches Friday

George Henn, left, and Cliff Clarke, welterweights, will be sparring in the second of a pair of exhibition boxing bouts at Victoria High School Friday night. First bout will be a lightweight battle between Doug Bambrugh and Steve Carter, slated to start at 8. Also on the card is a basketball game between the school reps and last year's squad. Drum Majorettes will give a display at intermission.

Bears In Close Call

Make a one-handed grab, Stanford Indian halfback Julie Field (9) races back 30 yards with a California pass in the second quarter of the Stanford-California game at Berkeley, Calif. Hot in pursuit of Field is California's Jackie Jensen (36), with Stanford players Jim Castagnoli (44) and Ted Liljenwall (31) following close behind. California won 7 to 6, and will represent the Pacific Coast Conference in the New Year's Day Rose Bowl game at Pasadena against Northwestern.

Chicago Gives Up Joe Haynes To Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pitcher Joe Haynes, one of the few outstanding players of Chicago White Sox, has been traded to Cleveland Indians for second-string catcher Joe Tipton.

The even trade was announced in Chicago today by Bill Veeck, president of the world champion Cleveland team.

Haynes last year won nine and lost 10. His best year was 1947 when he won 14 and lost six.

Track And Field To Get Boost Under New A.A.U. Head

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Prof. Nelson C. Hart, newly-elected president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, is not going to wait until spring before clearing house.

Hart, who succeeded George Machum of Montreal, as head of Canada's amateur sports governing body at the A.A.U. meeting here last week, said Tuesday some of the "deadwood" now clogging up the A.A.U. would have to be cleared away before the organization can function properly.

CHANGES NECESSARY

"With all due respect to some of our members," he said, "there's little doubt but that some changes are necessary. Our group has to be modernized, brought up-to-date. A speedy house cleaning is in order."

Hart also disclosed several other plans which will, he hopes, help improve the calibre of Canadian amateur athletes.

"We intend," he said, "to make an effort to form as many track and field clubs as we possibly can in Canada. The way things are now, if a boy is a standout track or field star in school, all his athletic talent is wasted if he doesn't go to university. If clubs and groups were formed for fellows like these, it would mean a great deal."

Asked how the A.A.U. proposes to go about forming these clubs, he replied:

"That's something we'll have to work on. But we'll work out something."

World Snooker Break Claimed By Canadian

TORONTO (CP)—George Chenier of Ottawa, Canadian snooker and pocket billiards champion, Tuesday claimed that he had established a world snooker record break of 142 in an exhibition play here.

Horace Lindro of Australia previously held the record for exhibition play with a 141 break. Chenier holds the Canadian record of 137 in championship play. The official world's record for competition play is 138, held by Joe Davis of England.

Champion Joe Louis Masters Kid Riviera

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Kid Riviera was the aggressor, but heavyweight champion Joe Louis was the master of the situation last night in a four-round, no-decision exhibition.

Louis weighed 220. Riviera, a St. Louis negro whose real name is Jimmy Williams, weighed 209. The program drew 7,488 and grossed $16,960, of which Louis received more than $5,000.

Rocky Graziano Tries To Explain 'Run Out'

NEW YORK (AP)—"It's like a guy slaps you in the face and you can't do nutting" about it."

That was how a confused Rocky Graziano tried to explain why he "ran out" on an Oakland, Calif., fight with Fred Apostoli.

Whiskers sprouted from his chin and neck. His wiry hair bristled and his eyes flashed as he attempted to put into English his scrambled feelings. He clenched his right fist as though hoping that could do his talking.

"Out there (California) they ask me questions," he said. "What's this about the bribe? What's this about the army? How come you can't fight in your own state? It's as if I'm going to jail. It really hurts, you know. It's like I had a mark on my face."

"I'm boxing in the gym with a couple of salamis. And I have no feeling. You know what I mean? I have no ambition. I don't care if I throw a punch or not. I can't get myself in shape. I just stick out my face and they smack me."

"When I get away from home I get moody. Out there, something in my head says 'get out of here.' So I get on a plane and shoot right back home."

SEEKS REINSTATEMENT
In the next breath, Rocky was telling how he was going to go to the New York State Athletic Commission and ask to be reinstated. His license was revoked in 1947 for allegedly failing to report a bribe attempt for a bout with Ruben Shanks in Madison Square Garden which never came off.

"If I got a license here I'd feel like a new man," he said. "This is my home. When I'm in Madison Square Garden, I feel like I'm in my own bedroom. There's nothing wrong with me that a little happiness wouldn't fix up."

What did "a little happiness" mean?

"Gimmie my license in New York," the Rock replied.

ROCKY THINKS

"All this trouble started when I began messing around with smart people," he said. "When I start to think, it's rough, you know. I was better off when I was a dope and didn't know nuttin'. It's hard to understand."

It sure is.

$50,000 Law Suit Probable

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Fight promoter Jimmy Murray threatened today to sue Rocky Graziano for $50,000, charging breach of contract for "running out" on his Dec. 1 fight here with Fred Apostoli.

The promoter began refunding money to the customers after confirming from Irving Cohen, of Rocky's three managers, that the former middleweight champion wasn't coming back west.

Graziano disappeared from his Oakland Hotel last Thursday. His friends at first thought he was out on a conditioning walk but he showed up at his Brooklyn home a couple of days later. In New York last night Cohen declared his fighter is "mentally depressed" and "is in no condition to enter a ring."

"Rocky is as ill-equipped to fight today as he would be if he were suffering from some physical ailment," Cohen said.

Murray last night signed a tough local middleweight, Earl Turner, to fill in for Graziano against Apostoli on the Dec. 1 card.

But he figured the fans were paying $15 tops to see Graziano, and the fans were lining up for refunds.

United Near Full Strength For Match With North Shore

Victoria United have an important match here Saturday when they tackle the North Shore aggregation in their first game of the second-half schedule.

Locals will need the points in order to keep on an even keel with the strong mainland eleven at the start of the campaign, so that the going will not be quite so tough towards the end of the season.

North Shore have played two second-half contests to date, garnering two of the four points, while St. Andrews have won their only start. A repeat win for the United over the Reds would set the mainland eleven back considerably, and put the locals in a good position to keep at the top in second-half play.

Returning from a trip to Vancouver, manager Roy Barnes announced that New Westminster Royals have been accepted into second-half competition.

No starting line-up has been named by United officials, but it is expected that the squad will use much the same roster that they used in their last match.

However, coach Gordie Bell may get into the fray, and his ability and experience should be a definite boon to the attacking combination.

Red McMillan, who is recovering from an ankle injury, is reported well enough to see action Saturday. George Forbes, out of competition since early in the season with a back injury, has been present at workouts, but is not expected to see action till a week Saturday. Joe Robbins will likely get the call for the centre forward slot.

Dr. Hutchison told 1,500 demonstrating Lafayette students that the bid to play Texas College of Mines was rejected as the result of a telephone conversation between William H. Anderson, Lafayette director of athletics, and C. D. Belding, chairman of the game selection committee of the Sun Bowl Association.

Anderson said Belding told him the laws of Texas forbid a negro playing in the stadium where the New Year's Day game is to be held.

At El Paso, however, Belding denied he told Anderson that Lafayette would not be permitted to play. Belding said the only stipulation made was that the negro player would have to be housed in separate lodgings.

Chuck Whitlock, sports editor of the El Paso Times, said the College of Mines, the players, captains, and some Sun Bowl officials are "highly in favor of Lafayette bringing its negro player if they come to the Sun Bowl."

Crawford (AP)—Johnny Crawford was left at home Tuesday when Boston Bruins left for Detroit and a National Hockey League date with the Red Wings tonight. Crawford, Boston defence man, has a badly bruised ankle which he suffered Sunday night when hit by a puck shot by the Rangers' Wally Santowski.

Rep coach Campbell Forbes was named head of the Rep selection committee, along with Phil Salmon, Scott Kerr, Roger Oakley and Doug Willard. Committee will watch Saturday's match and select the squad to represent the city in the McKee Cup series with Vancouver Lions and U.B.C. Thunderbirds.

Crimson Tide workouts are billed tonight at Macdonald Park, starting at 7.30, and Sunday morning.

Lineups for Saturday's exhibition follow:

Probables—C. Smith, Turner, Main, H. Olsen, Campbell, Chugranes, Smyth, Williams, Hicks, Belcher, Skillings, Collinson, Alexander, Dunlop, Ross, Powell, Gingras, Brien, Dalziel.

Possible—Dempster, C. Olsen, Murray, J. Stone, Choat, F. Ran, son, Kilshaw, T. McKeachie, Cupples, Wade, Hurn, Cripps, Rowe, Lott, Fowles, Brumwell, Riddell, Knott, Clayards.

Philadelphia—Beau Jack, 144, Augusta, Ga., stopped Chuck Taylor, 145, Coalport, Pa., 3.

Sacramento, Calif.—Maxie Docusen, 133, New Orleans, outpointed Benny Walker, 134, Oakland, Calif., 10.

To Decline Bowl Bid If Negro Back Outlawed

EASTON, Pa. (AP)—Lafayette College authorities were hoping today that someone would throw a little light on the Sun Bowl situation after an apparent misunderstanding over a negro player.

Dr. Ralph C. Hutchison, Lafayette president, announced yesterday that the Pennsylvania College had rejected a bid to the New Year's Day football game at El Paso, Tex., because it would not be permitted to play Dave Showell, negro back.

Dr. Hutchison told 1,500 demonstrating Lafayette students that the bid to play Texas College of Mines was rejected as the result of a telephone conversation between William H. Anderson, Lafayette director of athletics, and C. D. Belding, chairman of the game selection committee of the Sun Bowl Association.

Time Out For First Aid

Trainer Manny Seamon works over the damaged eye of Joe Louis after the second round of a six-round exhibition bout at Cleveland, Ohio. The champ was matched against Cleveland's Jimmy Bivins who reopened the eye cut that Louis suffered in his recent meeting with Johnny Shkor in Boston.

First Place Battle Resumes In N.H.L.

When the smoke of battle clears on the National Hockey League front tonight, either Detroit, Boston or Montreal may be leading the pack, or all three could be deadlocked for top spot, the red-hot race is that close.

The three-way tie could come about if Montreal Canadiens knock off the Leafs in Toronto while Boston and Detroit play to a tie in the motor city. This would leave all three with 17 points.

Dick Irvin's flying Frenchmen invaded Toronto today all set for the opener of their double-date with the floundering Leafs. The teams move to Montreal where they clash again tomorrow night, and a pair of victories against their bitter rivals would boost Canucks into sole possession of top spot no matter what the other teams do, both Boston and Detroit are idle Thursday.

Butch Bouchard, solid-blocking Montreal rearguard who suffered a pulled tendon in his left knee two weeks ago, will sit out tonight's game in Toronto. Doctors who examined big Butch yesterday found the knee hadn't healed sufficiently to allow the Hab rearguard to take the ice.

The final word on defenceman Bill Barilko and forwards Joe Kulkay and Vic Lynn—casualties in the Leaf camp—will come later today when the medics give the three a final check-up.

All three are laid up with ankle injuries. Lynn, who practiced yesterday, is the most likely starter. Irvin was asked yesterday about the slump of ace sniper Maurice (Rocket) Richard who has only scored two goals in 13 games. In reply he said he thought the Rocket had been playing "very well," although at the moment his plays "just aren't clicking."

Durocher Called To Chandler Meeting

CINCINNATI (AP)—Baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler has summoned Leo Durocher, manager of New York Giants, and Freddie Fitzsimmons for a conference during the Chicago winter baseball meetings to explain Fitzsimmons' signing as a coach with the Giants, the commissioner's office announced Tuesday.

Walter Mulbry, secretary of baseball, said that when Fitzsimmons signed with New York Giants as a coach "about a month ago" he still was on the reserve list of the Boston Braves as a coach.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

HERE'S LOWDOWN ON LOCO POWER

When you hear a train whistle, you picture a powerful locomotive gliding over the rails at high speed. But did you know that the tremendous power behind its driving wheels is sealed into the locomotive with Asbestos?

Today, Johns-Manville asbestos products help many railroads control power. In the form of insulations, they keep heat on the job—help maintain the speed and efficiency of modern trains. As packings and gaskets, they conserve engine horsepower. And behind the scenes J-M friction materials help control the tremendous power of breakdown and repair hoists, cranes, winches, etc.

For over 85 years, Johns-Manville has served Canadian railroads. Today, J-M asbestos products are helping the railroads write a splendid new chapter in transportation history.

PERSONALITY CAN BE ACQUIRED

People used to think you were born with personality—or you weren't. But in December Reader's Digest, Dr. Henry C. Link tells how the "P.Q." test not only measures your personality (your ability to interest and influence others)—but actually shows which activities help develop your personality, and which harm it.

Read this helpful article: it lets you judge whether you and your children are doing the things that build the traits required to get along in the world. Get your Reader's Digest today.

Two of the greatest disasters to sweep the City of London in its long and colorful history are strikingly portrayed in the spectacular Technicolor film version of "Forever Amber" which Twentieth Century-Fox brings to the screen of the Royal Theatre.

Amidst the panoply of Seventeenth Century England, both the dreaded plague and the great fire of 1666 add harrowing spectacle to the lives and actions of the characters of the Kathleen Winsor novel played by Linda Darnell, Cornel Wilde, Richard Greene and George Sanders in the starring roles of the picture.

BUGS BUNNY*Apprentice Jockey Boots Home Five

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—The voice of the $2 bettor was heard in the stands:

Pee-Kooooooo!

So Clarence Picou did his best and booted home five winners out of eight races in Tuesday's Bowie card.

The 17-year-old apprentice from Texas, about the hottest thing on the eastern United States tracks, thereby made it 22 winners in the eight days Bowie has been open. Picou now is approaching the 250 mark in his first year on the circuits.

The darling of the horse players, in most cases the very fact that Picou was up meant the odds went down. One of his mounts paid $13.40, however.

Robinson Denied Protective Clause

NEW YORK (AP)—Welterweight champion Ray Robinson Tuesday asked the Tournament of Champions for a protective contract in case he loses to Steve Belloise at Jersey City, N.J., Dec. 9.

George Gainsford, manager of Sugar Ray, said he neglected to have the return stipulation in the papers, but wanted to fix that up now if possible. Gainsford said the bout was important as Robinson was hoping to get a shot at middleweight champion Marcel Cerdan.

Promoter Andy Niederreiter said it was too late to change the contract.

Finance Minister Opposes Drastic Taxation Changes

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott, making it clear he was dropping any budget hints, said Tuesday night that it is undesirable to have unduly frequent or drastic changes in tax rates unless economic reasons make them necessary.

Addressing a dinner meeting of the Canadian Tax Foundation, Mr. Abbott said one school of thought advocated "cyclical budgeting" or "cyclical taxation."

"Under this philosophy, periods of prosperity are the proper time for high or increased tax rates," said Mr. Abbott. "In such periods of buoyant employment and incomes, budget policy should aim at creating surpluses and retiring debt in order to keep the national debt within manageable proportions."

TO CONVERSE RECOVERY

"Conversely, in times of depression, this school urges that taxes should be reduced, perhaps substantially reduced, in order to counteract deflationary tendencies and promote more rapid economic recovery."

Mr. Abbott, who is heading toward his third successive surplus, said that finance ministers now have to budget for a block of years rather than for one year at a time. He referred to the $17,000,000,000 national debt which Canada has built up mainly as a result of the war and said:

"I may be old-fashioned, but I hold the view that it is just as important for the nation as for the individual to put something away for the rainy day—and the way governments can do that is by paying off debt."
